Are We Dependent?
A Fine Old Cow
Ladies, Take Notice

Mr. Cox says "the nation's prosperity hinges on league result." If it does this country is dependent. That will be news to the people that live here. The general opinion is that EUROPE DEPENDS ON AMERICA and that the Peace League is a scheme to get everything possible out of America, men and money especially.

If Mr. Cox is right and this country does depend on Europe, the people promptly ought to know it, although the knowledge will not please them. One thing is sure, the League of Nations would make this country dependent on Europe and European decisions.

"The champion cow comes back." Ladies, please read that line with attention. The cow's name is Sophie 19th.

Sophie is fifteen and a half years old. VERY old for a cow. A cow aged fifteen and half is as old at least as a woman aged sixty-five.

In old age Sophie is reverently greeted as "the champion butter cow of the world." Her ninth official record amazes everybody. Ordinarily, at the age of fifteen and a half, a cow becomes the prey of somebody that changes her stringy meat into sausages.

Sophie in her old age is a champion, tenderly cared for, still as good as ever, because she has had the right care, the right food, the right TREATMENT. The farmer that managed her did not push her aside in favor of some young heifer a little more lively and sprightly.

Sophie in hot weather had an electric fan over her back to keep the flies away and make her comfortable.

Sophie had a comfortable bed of straw always. And she lived in a wide box stall, where she could move about comfortably, not in a little narrow stall such as ordinary cows endure with their necks held tight in a yoke.

Sophie was not pushed to the background in favor of some sprightly young heifer. Sophie was not humiliated by the discovery that a few gray hairs in her head meant that nobody paid any attention to her.

Sophie retained all her good qualities and got better as she got older. Women do the same, but men don't know it.

When men are sufficiently civilized to treat women as well and as intelligently as the dairyman treated Sophie, this will be a better world.

Perhaps women, being able to vote now, the betting world will come sooner than it would have done under old conditions.

"Three Soviet divisions annihilated," says the cablegram from Warsaw. Unfortunately for the hopes of those that expect to conquer Russia and collect on billions of bonds that Lenin repudiated, there are many divisions where those three came from.

One interesting point in the Polish-Russian war, until now an essential for Russia, is the fact that the Russians have as military chief and Minister of War Trotzky, a Jew. Centuries have passed since a member of the Jewish race commanded important armies.

Those who think that Jews cannot fight or direct fighting know little about Jews and know nothing about Maccabees.

Of all the world's fighting generals, one of the most powerful, a miracle of courage, endurance and intelligence, was Hannibal, the Carthaginian. And he was of Semitic blood.

The latest income tax ruling says that if you own Philippine certificates that pay 7.60 per cent. a year you don't have to pay any income tax on them.

The income tax is becoming a fairly good tax for those that have plenty of money. There are at present fifteen thousand millions of securities in the United States EXEMPT from income tax, and they being in first-class interest, in addition, the hundreds of millions paid out every year in "stock dividends" pay NOTHING in the way of income tax under a Supreme Court decision.

Naturally, men that have the most money are paying themselves in stock dividends.

The fortunate individual who has millions more than he can invest them in securities that pay no income tax and keep all the income for himself. His fortune rations are making gigantic amounts, he can invest the money and pay himself in stock dividends, thus drawing income tax free. It is not so with the man with a little business, or the man with an average salary, who doesn't know exactly where he will be next year. HE PAYS INCOME TAX. There are no Supreme Court decisions or rulings by public officials letting him out of the net.

That need not surprise you, however. The possession of much money indicates intelligence somewhere. When it is inherited it can buy intelligence from the corporation lawyer. And intelligence small's gets out of the net. The dull little fishes stay in and are eaten.

RUSSIANS DRIVEN 50 MILES

Poles Sweep Foe Back on 125-Mile Front, Recapturing Several Strongholds

London, Aug. 20.—The Poles have advanced fifty miles on a 125-mile front east of Warsaw and forty miles north of Warsaw, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the Polish capital. The Poles have reached Ciechanow, on the Warsaw-Danzig Railway, and Pultusk, East of Warsaw the Poles have taken Nova Minsk, Kalusezyn, Siedlce and Losice.

Correspondence of International News Service and the London Daily Express.

Warsaw, Aug. 19, via London, Aug. 20.—A gigantic encircling movement is being swiftly carried out by the Polish army between Brest-Litovsk and Dembli and dispatches from the front today indicated that the bulk of the Russian army in Poland was in danger of being cut off, if this had not already been accomplished.

The Poles are reported to have recaptured the great fortress of Brest-Litovsk.

The Poles are launching a great new converging attack from Pultusk, north of Warsaw. One thousand Russian troops have been thrown into confusion by the smashing of their front at many points. The Russians threw away guns and ammunition in their wild flight.

The Poles have captured more than 10,000 prisoners and vast quantities of guns and ammunition.

The foreign missions that went from Warsaw to Posen have been advised to return as all danger to the city is now past.

The Archbishop of Warsaw has or-

Wilson Exercises by Schedule Daily

Washington, Aug. 20.—Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, personal physician of President Wilson, today announced that the President had regained his normal weight of 179 pounds.

So rapid has been the President's advancement to health that Admiral Grayson has laid out a daily schedule which the chief executive follows religiously. These are among the things the President does:

Exercises his left arm by exercising with dumbbells.
Shaves himself, sometimes with a safety razor.
Climbs stairs with a cane to exercise his leg muscles.
Dictates rapidly, and frequently writes short-hand notes of what he wants done.
Uses an indelible pencil to sign most letters to department officials.

IRISH RAIDERS DEFEAT BRITISH

Many Wounded in Sinn Fein Attacks on Mail Lorries, Police and Military

By DANIEL O'CONNELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Dublin, Aug. 20.—A series of daring raids, in which a number of persons were wounded, have been carried out by Sinn Feiners against mail lorries, police and military patrols during the past twenty-four hours.

Near Annascaul, in County Kerry, a detachment of thirteen soldiers, who were guarding a military lorry, were ambushed. After a sharp fight, in which four of the soldiers were wounded, the others surrendered and gave up their arms.

The Sinn Feiners commandeered a passing motor car and carried the woundedinto Dingle, where first aid was given. In the meantime, the captives were entertained at tea at a nearby farmhouse. Later, they were released.

An automobile was wrecked and

Melrose Tax Rate $29.50

Figures given out by the Melrose assessors today put the tax rate of the city at $29.50, or $3.50 over last year. The valuation is $21,035,460, an increase of $881,825.

220 SERBS KILLED IN BATTLE BY ALBANIANS

London, Aug. 20.—A revolution has broken out at Kossovo on the border of Serbia and Albania and 220 Serbians have been killed in a battle with the Albanians, according to a Central News dispatch from Rome.

HANNIGAN RECEIVER FOR OLD COLONY EXCHANGE

Attorney John E. Hannigan was today appointed receiver in the case of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company. He will furnish a bond of $25,000.

JAMES H. CLARKIN IN AUTO COLLISION

New London, Ct., Aug. 20.—James H. Clarkin, attorney and sportsman of Hartford, Ct., had a narrow escape from serious injury in an automobile accident three miles west of this city. Clarkin's machine was overturned and badly damaged in a collision with a taxicab driven by John Benedict, but Clarkin received only slight injuries.

"SILENT" AUTOISTS IN EAST BOSTON FINED

Thirty autoists were in East Boston Court today, the majority charged with failing to sound warning signals at Breed and Bennington streets. These were fined $5 each. Bernard Millman of Chelsea street was fined $10 for failing to stop within sight limit of a standing street car.

GIRL-WIFE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE WITH CORROSIVE SUBLIMATE

Police Say She Quarrelled With Male Friend; Sailor Under Arrest

Mrs. Alsabella Foss, sixteen years old, living in the lodging house of Henry N. Powell, No. 832 Broadway, Chelsea, today attempted suicide by taking five corrosive sublimate tablets. She was taken to the Frost Hospital in a critical condition.

The police say she took the poison after a quarrel with a man with whom she had been friendly.

She is married, but her husband, Fred L. Foss, is living in Beverly. Her mother and father live in Lynn.

Edward G. Roberts, a sailor on the U. S. S. Savannah, is being held by the police on serious charges in connection with the case. He also lived at the lodging house under the name of Fred L. Foss, the police say.

SAY TRUNK CONTAINS LEWIS MURDER VICTIM

Case Swept Away by Tide, Is Believed to Contain Head, Arms and Legs of Woman

New York, Aug. 20.—An autopsy has decided definitely that the woman whose mutilated torso was washed ashore at Communipaw, N. J., on Wednesday, undoubtedly had been murdered.

The belief was also expressed that following the murder, torso and limbs had been packed into a trunk which had been forced open by the action of the water.

Alexander Ross, who is in charge of the search for the identity of the murdered woman, said after a cursory examination that dismemberment of the body could not possibly have been the work of medical students. He said the limbs looked as if they had been cracked off without regard for joints or sockets.

"Rigor mortis apparently had set in before the dismemberment," said Ross, "and some of the bones, instead of being disjointed, seemed to have been crudely snapped off."

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR MISSING GIRL

Catherine Ruggiero, fifteen, of No. 173 Norfolk street, Dorchester, disappeared from her home Monday and has not been seen since. Relatives have offered a reward for information leading to her whereabouts.

FINED $75 AFTER AUTO STRIKES WOMAN

Fred Oberhauser of Boston, whose automobile struck and injured Miss Agnes Hughes of Bay street, Hull, near that town, was fined $75 by the Hingham Court today for reckless driving. Oberhauser appealed and was held in $200. Leo V. Friel of Dorchester, accused of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, received a fine of $75. He appealed. The following were fined for speeding: Bernard Kalaet of Worcester, who was fined $15; William E. Brennan of Boston, $20; Leo M. Laskey, Haverhill, $15; Abraham Friedman, Boston, $10; Jacob Rehind, Lowell, $10; Francis A. Keagan, Brockton, $20; Hyman Star, Boston, $10; William McGaffin, Falmouth, $15; George McElroy, Malden, $10; Clifton Watson, Leicester, $15; Charles E. Buck, Braintree, $10, and Anthony Mastriani, Springfield, $10.

$5,000 FIRE IN BEDFORD, FARMER IS BURNED

The filling of an automobile truck gas tank by the light of a kerosene lamp caused a fire which destroyed a large barn and part of its contents on the farm of Michael Kabosious on Springs road, Bedford. The loss was $5,000. A farm hand was filling the storage tank of the truck when the fumes became ignited. Twenty tons of hay and a number of farming implements were destroyed and the motor truck was badly damaged. Kabosious was burned about the face and hands while rescuing the twenty-three head of cattle and two horses.

BERLIN SAYS ANARCHY REIGNS IN SILESIA

Berlin, Aug. 20.—Anarchy prevails at Kattowitz in upper Silesia, where a number of Germans and French were killed in street fighting, according to news from that district today. Poles and Germans engaged in sniping and bomb throwing from windows. There is keen hostile feeling between the Poles and Germans.

SUFFRAGE CLASH EXPECTED

Tennessee Lawmakers Today Will Reach Final Decision on 19th Amendment

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 20.—Reconsideration of the ratification of the nineteenth (suffrage) amendment probably was to be the first matter of business taken up in the House of the Tennessee Legislature when that body reconvened today.

Suffrage leaders expressed greatest confidence that efforts to defeat ratification on reconsideration would be unavailing.

Both sides today were rounding up their forces and preparing for the final clash.

Expert lawyers, including Charles T. Alten, ex-Attorney-General, insist

Hunger Strikers Riot in Maryland Prison

By International News Service.

Baltimore, Aug. 20.—Seventy hunger strikers, segregated in a dormitroy of the Maryland penitentiary here, broke out of their cells about 2:30 o'clock this morning and rioted in the building until daylight.

The interior of the dormitory was wrecked, but none of the prisoners escaped. City police and firemen were called out to help quell the disturbance. Not until fire hose were turned on the rioters did they show any sign of quieting down.

The authorities waited until daylight before entering the building because the prisoners had broken all the electric lights before the trouble started.

At 6 o'clock the prisoners were in possession of the dormitory. There were thirteen guards on duty when the rioting started, but Abling Warden Hailey could not say whether any of these had been injured.

The warden refused to allow newspaper men to enter the building. One of daylight made their way into the building preceded by a barrage of water from the high pressure system.

One of the firemen was slightly injured when the rioting prisoners hurled a heavy iron door [illegible] him. Comrades rescued the injured fireman.

There are hundreds [illegible] in the Maryland Penitentiary. At the beginning of the rioting [illegible] and [illegible] could be heard for [illegible]. By [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] had [illegible] within reach. Buckets and bricks were hurled out of the windows at the police, who surrounded the building to prevent the escape of any of the men. Shots were fired by the police to cow the rioters, but to no avail.

Hundreds of prisoners went on a strike a few days ago for a "better variety" of food.

The warden met this with an ultimatum that the men who would not work would not eat. The majority of the prisoners decided to work. But the seventy who took part in this morning's rioting refused to work and were segregated in a dormitory and put on bread and water diet.

UPHOLDS DISMISSAL OF LYNN PATROLMAN

Mayor Peter H. Creamer of Lynn was sustained in his dismissal of Patrolman James H. Bunce in a decision by Judge Henry P. Lummus. After his discharge on the ground of unsatisfactoriness, Bunce appealed to the court. Bunce charged that he had been offered a bribe to withdraw his opposition to the promotion of two Lynn patrolmen.

WILL TURN ESTATE OVER TO TRUSTEE

The official investigation of the great financial crash of Charles Ponzi progressed today with the appointment of William R. Sears of Cohasset, John Forbes Perkins of Milton and Edward A. Thurston of Fall River as receivers.

These men were named by Judge Morton in connection with the original petition in bankruptcy filed August 9. They will take charge of Ponzi's assets and property, wherever they may be found, and hold them for a trustee who will be appointed later.

This move followed the announcement that a big round-up of all agents and accomplices of Ponzi, together with all who were intimately connected with his "something-for-nothing" scheme, is now under way.

Two more arrests, following those of Henry T. Neilsen and John S. Dondero-are momentarily expected, and arrests will continue to be made until all principals of Ponzi's organization are in custody.

The receivers will secure from Federal Auditor Edwin L. Pride a list of Ponzi's assets and property, so far as it has been made up. It is understood that these assets and property, including Ponzi's $25,000 house at Lexington and his automobiles, will then be seized.

WELL-KNOWN LAWYER.

Of the receivers, William R. Sears is a former member of the dissolved firm of Whipple, Sears & Ogden, and has been active in the present investigation as a representative of the Legal Aid Society. He is also said to be a close friend of Attorney-General J. Weston Allen.

Mr. Perkins was formerly treasurer of the Calumet & Hecla Copper Mining company, and is a business associate of W. Cameron Forbes, former governor-general of the Philippines.

Mr. Thurston is one of the leaders of the Republican party in this State, was for three years chairman of the Republican State Committee, and was one of the "Big Four" delegates at large at the Republican convention in Chicago. He practices law in Boston, Fall River and Washington.

GIVE $150,000 IN BONDS.

All three qualified with bonds of $50,000 each.

As a result of the offensive launched by the authorities, which is considered one of the largest tasks ever undertaken by local prosecutors, it is expected that disclosures exceeding in sensationalism any that have yet appeared, will be made.

Federal officials were today searching for Andrew Lopardo, No. 30 Bread street, Springfield, agent for Ponzi in that city, who is reported to have collected about $10,000, represented in unsold notes held by Springfield persons.

A visit by postoffice inspectors to Springfield in search of Lopardo failing to locate him and the officers were told the agent had "left town."

While Ponzi has stated that he would rather stay in jail until the September term of the Federal court, when he will be tried on charges of

Huge Record of Objections in Alleged Monopoly Case Figures in Appeal

F. Monroe Dyer and fifteen others convicted of conspiracy to create a monopoly of the fish industry in Boston are in no danger of being compelled to serve the prison terms to which they were sentenced for some time, if ever, it was apparent today from the legal technicalities with which their appeal to the full bench of the supreme court has been surrounded.

Henry P. Hurlburt, counsel for the principal defendants, took the case to the supreme court on some 1,500 objections made during the trial. The record is said to be the most voluminous ever presented in the supreme judiciary and as the objections must be supplemented with explanatory documents, the printing of it alone will be a big factor and consume considerable time, attorneys estimated today. It appeared improbable that the fish trust case would reach the supreme court's docket before March, 1921.

$50 FINES ASSESSED IN LOTTERY CASES

Paul W. Danzella, twenty-five years old, of Allston place, Cambridge, and Ernest Santaro, twenty-three years old, of Spring street, East Cambridge, were arraigned in the South Boston District Court today charged with "shooting craps" and having clearing house lottery tickets in their possession. The first charge was placed on file and they were fined $50 each on the second one. They appealed and were held in $500.

using the mails to defraud, the appointment today of a receiver in the Penzi bankruptcy proceedings is expected to result in a bail agreement between Attorney-General J. Weston Allen and Penzi's counsel.

Despite the repeated warnings of his counsel not to discuss the case the imprisoned defendant has stirred a mild tempest in financial circles, charging that a Boston banker with whom he had an ironclad agreement deserted him at the last moment. Asked by newspapermen to name the banker head to whom he referred, he said:

"I do not care to say anything more closely indicating the banker to whom I refer."

In financial circles today speculation is rife as to the identity of the banker to whom Ponzi referred.

SPRINGFIELD LOSES HEAVY.

The first indication that Springfield residents invested heavily with Ponzi was given by the visit of the post-office officials to the city in search of Leganillo. It was learned that the officials found one man, whose name they withheld, that sunk his entire savings of $500 in the venture, cashed the matured note and then, mortgaging his home, reinvested $2,000, which he lost in the crash.

At the State House it was reported that Ponzi's liabilities have now known to $4,368,874, which includes the fifty per cent. interest promised on the money loaned by the creditors who have reported these claims. The claims represent 10,000 notes held by 10,200 persons, it was stated.

PACKERS GETTING READY TO OBEY COURT DECREE

Washington, Aug. 20.—The Armour, Swift, Wilson, Morris and Cudahy packing houses have submitted a plan to the Department of Justice relative to the disposal of their stock yards' interests in accordance with a court decree which provides that they must confine themselves to the wholesale meat trade. The plan will probably be filed with the District of Columbia Supreme Court before the last of this month. The decree was made earlier in the year and provides that the packers must act within two years.

SECRETARY OF EAGLES WEDS HIS STENOGRAPHER

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Cupid almost broke up the big Eagles' convention here when he grabbed the hands and hearts of Worthy Grand Secretary John S. Parry of San Francisco, and Miss Annie L. MAY INCREASE CONGRESS TO 500 MEMBERS OR MORE

Washington, Aug. 20.—Reapportionment of the Congressional districts on the basis of increasing the membership of the House of Representatives to 500 or more members has been virtually decided upon by Congressional leaders. The present membership is 435.

The increase in the membership will be made necessary by the growth in population as shown by the figures of the 1920 census.

CANADIAN VETERANS' SOCIETIES MAY UNITE

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Officers of the Grand Army and United Veterans, ex-service men's organizations, in a letter to C. J. Neal, secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, proposed the amalgamation of the two bodies to present a united action in favor of gratuities for former service men. The board of directors of the G. A. U. V. have already approved the amalgamation.

SHOW BURRELL SHIFTED FUNDS

Auditor's List Reveals State Treasurer's Private Clients Had Deposits Increased

Banks advertising through the private agency of State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell are given to have their deposits of State funds increased in a list of banks and their State fund balances before and after he assumed office, State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook made the list public after Burrell had refused to give out the information.

The list shows that many of the banks doing business with the State Treasurer's private concern had their deposits of State funds substantially increased after Burrell assumed office.

The list also reveals that many of the smaller and more recently organized banks carrying small amounts of State funds before Burrell took office were given larger amounts after he took office—amounts greatly in excess of those placed in older and heavier capitalized institutions. In many instances deposits equal to the full 40 per cent. of the banks' paid-up capital allowed by law were made.

The following table shows the amounts of State funds in Boston banks during the incumbency of former State Treasurer Charles L. Burrill, at the close of the fiscal year, November 29, 1919, and the bank balances on August 2, 1920, deposited by State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell:

COURT UPHOLDS PRISON WARDEN

After a three-hour hearing, Judge Charles S. Sullivan, in the Charlestown Municipal Court, affirmed the order of Warden Elmer E. Shattuck of the State Prison, for indefinite suspension of William J. Crowley, a prison officer, who was suspended on May 31, following the sensational escape of Barney Ward and Al Manning on a charge of failing to perform his duty in not shooting or attempting to shoot at the escaping prisoners.

Judge Sullivan stated that he found that Warden Shattuck did not act in bad faith or without proper cause in making his decision.

MILDRED MUNROE BRIDE OF EDWARD W. TAYLOR

Miss Mildred Victoria Munroe, daughter of Charles Wilson Munroe of Lexington, was married to Edward Willis Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Warren Taylor, also of that town. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Mills Wilson of the Lexington First Parish (Unitarian) Congregational Church. Mr. Taylor has served on the Lexington Board of Selectmen and is a representative from the Twenty-eighth Middlesex District.

MILLION A WEEK PLAN EXPOSED

Arrests Thwarted Alleged Gigantic Expansion of Old Colony Swindle

Revelations today of thwarted plans of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company disclosed one of the most audacious schemes to mulct the public in the history of crooked finance—one so colossal that Ponzi's operations dwindle in comparison.

A clean-up of $1,000,000 a week was anticipated. Headquarters were to be transferred from Boston to New York, where a great clearing house was to have been established. Fourteen branch offices alone were to be opened in Greater New York and every State in New England was to have been planted thickly with agencies.

So far had the plans of the proposed gigantic swindle progressed that a palatial suite of offices had been engaged in Nassau street of the New York financial district, when the bubble burst in Boston. A unique advertising scheme was under consideration designed to put the gullible investor without passing through the usual financial channels.

The investigators declare that the New Yorkers had held at least three meetings with Old Colony officials in the Hotel Pennsylvania. Another meeting was scheduled for Tuesday last, but four days prior to that date Brightwell and Frothers had been arrested here.

All of the details of the scheme and the limitless hopes of its sponsors together with discussions at the New York conferences, are said to be in the hands of the State and Federal authorities here.

Actual developments in the affairs of the get-rich-quick concern have given the noteholders ample hopeful by Attorney-General Allen's success in unearthing available assets of $150,000, a shock.

This same official declared that President Brightwell is merely a figurehead and that three men, now being sought, are its real backers. The three men are believed to be Bostonians.

Springfield seems to have escaped from the Old Colony mesh with a comparatively small loss. When Manager Lenihan of the Springfield branch returned to that city yesterday he turned over to William P. Jennings, the company's local attorney, about $1,000 in checks and money orders. This amount, Lenihan told the attorney, represented about one-half the business done in Springfield.

L. R. SULLIVAN OPPOSES DEATH PENALTY HERE

Abolition of capital punishment and of the power now vested in the governor and Council to pardon persons convicted of murder in the second degree was recommended next night by Councillor Lewis R. Sullivan, candidate for the Democratic nomination for sheriff in Suffolk County, when speaking at rallies in Roxbury. "If every Massachusetts voter could observe how capital punishment works, the death sentence would be wiped out by a vote of 100 to 1," Sullivan. "There have been twenty-three deaths in the electric chair at Charlestown and of the twenty-three who died in this manner, twenty-two were convicted on circumstantial evidence."

TO SHOW HUNTERS AT NEWPORT HORSE SHOW

Newport, R. I., Aug. 20.—One of the largest exhibitors at the Newport Horse Show, to be held on the Casino the first three days in September, will be Mr. William Allen of Quansett Farms, South Westport, Mass. His horses will be chiefly among the hunters, jumpers and saddle classes, including five hunters and three pairs of hunters. Some of his exhibits will be Rose of Killarney, Mrs. Tipperary, Barrier and Plempton.

Marshal Foch Hunts in Vain to Find Home

Paris, Aug. 20.—For six weeks every real estate dealer in Paris has been trying to find an apartment for Marshal Foch, and not one has yet succeeded. Meanwhile the Marshal's lease on his flat in the Avenue De Saxe is drawing to an end and it will not be renewed.

Several proprietors of apartment buildings flatly refused to rent flats to the Marshal because, they said, their buildings were "bourgeois" habitations and the presence of so famous a man as Foch would create too great a stir.

"What would happen to our quiet house if a new war was to occur," they asked, "or a revolution."

Learning of the marshal's predicament, Lord Northcliffe, the English newspaper baron, offered to start a subscription to buy the great soldier a "home worthy of his fame."

"I will start the subscription myself with $10,000," he telegraphed.

Asserting, however, that he was as poor as a church for public charity, Marshal Foch refused.

THREAT TO GIRL SENT BY MAIL

Demand for $100 on Young Woman Leads to Arrest and Confession

Admitting that he wrote two threatening letters demanding $100 of a young woman, Leo H. McDonald, eighteen years old, of Saratoga street, had his case continued to September 3 in the Chelsea municipal court. He was sent to the Psychopathic Hospital for examination.

McDonald admitted writing the letters to Miss Esther Stone of No. 282 Chelsea street, who formerly lived in the same house with him. Last Wednesday Miss Stone received a note reading: "Unless you send a sealed envelope containing $100 Wednesday night to Wood Island Park you will be in the hands of the phantom."

The following day she got the following: "I notice the money did not show up. If you don't have it at Wood Island by 5 p. m. Thursday you'll be sorry. If you attempt to notify the police you will be doubly dealt with."

Miss Stone turned the letters over to the police, and Sergeant John McGrath went to Wood Island Park. He found young McDonald prowling about in a suspicious manner, and arrested him for disorderly and a dunning mask.

McDonald admitted writing the letters. He told the police he needed the $100 "for spending money."

NORTH END BOY HIT BY TRUCK WHILE PLAYING

Aration Progendrias, aged five, of No. 432 Hanover street, playing on Commercial street near Hanover street, ran out from behind a pillar supporting the elevated structure and was knocked down by an automobile truck owned by Henry Clark & Company, No. 2647 Union street, and operated by Nelson A. Houghton of No. 61 Dearborn street, Medford. At the relief hospital he was found to be suffering from lacerated wounds of the forehead and right elbow, and was taken home by relatives after treatment.

MASS MEETING FOR TELEPHONE WORKERS

Every male telephone worker in New England has been invited to attend a mass meeting in the Wells Memorial building tonight, called by officers of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The recent secession of a large number of telephone workers in Boston from the electrical brotherhood and the formation of an independent organization will be discussed. James P. Noonan of Washington, D. C., international president of the electrical brotherhood, and H. H. Broach of Springfield, Ill., international vice-president, will attend.

Court Favors Shots at Night Singers

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Serenaders who disturb the early hours sacred to slumber may be dismissed with pistol shots, Judge McKinley ruled. Max Stash was arraigned for an assault with a pistol. A party of young people complained he had fired upon them while they were singing near his home at Beethoven place at 2 a. m.

"That seems to be a musical neighborhood," said the judge.

"Yes, judge, and if you had heard that singing you would have done some shooting too," said Stash. "They are the ones that ought to be charged with assault."

"Considering the time and place, I think you are right," said Judge McKinley. "Case dismissed."

Physicians more and more are realizing that Hitro-Phosphate, as dispensed at drug stores, is a necessity to over forty per cent. of men and women, because present day foods do not contain enough phosphate to give the body and especially the nervous system the supply it needs.

Speaking on this very subject, Dr. Frederick S. Keller, Editor-in-Chief of

FEED NERVES PLENTY OF PHOSPHATE IN SUMMER

Hitro-Phosphate a Godsend

Men and women, nervous and fretful, easily upset and often fatigued need plenty of organic phosphate, and the sooner they heed this advice the better their health will be.

In every one of the millions of cells that make up your body, phosphorus is a most important part.

Your nervous system, your brain, your blood and even your bones must have a sufficient supply of phosphorus or weariness, nervousness and a general breakdown condition, as well as lack of normal mental power, is sure to result.

Physicians' "Who's Who," and a nationally known author of medical text books, in a most emphatic statement said:

"If I had my way, Hitro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital."

Later, Dr. Keller said: "When the nerve tissue begins to lose its vitality, woman begins to lose her youth and attractiveness. Her lively, pleasant disposition fades away—she becomes irritable, emotional, moody and despondent. It would indeed be a godsend if more men and women were aware of the efficacy of Hitro-Phosphate."

Hot weather is dreaded by men and women who are weak, thin, nervous, timid and lacking in vigorous development because it saps their vitality almost to the breaking point.

To all such people Hitro-Phosphate is recommended because it is the one organic phosphate which will supply the element necessary for a vigorous, healthy body free from any suggestion of weakness or disordered nerves.

Your druggist has Hitro-Phosphate in the original package with complete instructions for best results.

SUGAR PIRATES CAUGHT WITH LARGE STOCKS FACE BIG LOSS

SLUMP IN PRICE IS NEAR

Hoarders to Unload at 15 Cents a Pound and Possibly Less

One of the largest sugar concerns in the country is planning to dispose of its huge hoarding at 15 cents in order to meet the prices of its competitors who have already been forced to reduce the price as low as 18 cents throughout the United States.

This was a report on the sugar market today and is another indication of how sugar profiteers are being caught in a trap of their own making.

Other reports pointed out to an even lower price than 15 cents for sugar before the holders get out from under the slump which began about a week ago. Many thousands of dollars have already been lost by speculators who bought heavily at a price higher than they can now obtain. Advices are circulating in the market to the effect that the dealer who first gets rid of his holdings will suffer the least loss.

According to government observers, a bad guess on the probable result of prohibition is responsible for the slump in sugar prices now under way. It was believed by the big candy and soft drinks manufacturers that there would be an unprecedented demand for their products. Sugar raisers all over the world made the same guess and—over-did it—for the first time—began to flood the American market.

As the Summer waned, it gradually dawned on them that the public taste for sweets had not increased sufficiently to create a demand for sugar anywhere near equal to the supply on hand. Whereupon, with an unavailing attempt to keep the situation quiet, so as not to disturb bank credits, unloading began. Likewise the slump of the last week. An additional incentive for unloading is the approach of the beet sugar harvest which supplies the Western States and lessens the demand for cane sugar in that section.

Hub Beauties Refute British Claim

Here is some more of New England's feminine loveliness, Mr. Hoppe. Do you still maintain that that of your dear old London is superior?

Missouri is some little distance from Massachusetts, but this is something upon which even the Bay State and sisters demand proof. Fact is, we believe you are going to have to recall that statement about the superiority of British beauties.

And, Boston American readers, what do you think about it? We believe you agree, but you must do your bit in this challenge to America's womanhood. Send us the photograph of the particular beauty in your set or community.

TROLLEY HITS AUTO; 6 HURT

Electric, Derailed by Gravel, Jams East Weymouth Machine Against Wall

Six occupants of an automobile were slightly injured when the car in which they were riding was struck by a Braintree-East Weymouth special trolley which left the rails on Commercial street, near the Fore River turnout, East Braintree.

The injured, all of whom live at No. 311 Commercial street, East Braintree, are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Levanzi, Alphonso Parmentier, his wife and two children. All were removed to their home suffering minor cuts and bruises.

Crushed stone which was being used in road construction at this point had fallen onto the track and caused the derailment.

The automobile, operated by Parmentier, was jammed against a stone wall and badly demolished. The trolley lodged directly across the highway.

The street car, with no passengers aboard, was being taken from the East Weymouth carbarns to Braintree in charge of Motorman Edward Fisher and Conductor Joseph Allioty, both of East Weymouth.

3 MORE RHODE ISLAND MILLS SHUT DOWN

Providence, Aug. 20.—Cancelled orders have forced the shut down of three more Rhode Island mills. The Peacedale Woolen Mills of this city closed for three weeks, throwing 100 operatives out of work.

The Sydney Worsted Company and Jarret Brothers Co. mills in Woonsocket, employing about 300, have closed for an indefinite period.

The closing of the Providence & Danielson trolley line next month shuts off 2,500 quarts of milk daily sent from towns between here and Providence to that city. To add greater disturb milk dealers, the Westerly & Norwich trolley will September 16 shut off 3,700 quarts daily.

STOLEN JEWELRY WAS VALUED AT $45,000

Manchester-by-the-Sea, Aug. 20.—A jewelry expert has raised the value of the jewelry stolen from the Summer home of Walter D. Denegre at West Manchester from $20,000 to $45,000. Mr. Denegre has increased the reward for recovery of the jewels from $5,000 to $10,000. Detectives are questioning a former employe regarding the robbery.

ELLEN BEACH YAW TO WED N. Y. MUSICIAN

WOMAN LEAVES PARK TO CITY OF FITCHBURG

Worcester, Aug. 20.— Property to be used for park purposes was left to the city of Fitchburg in the will of Jennie M. Whitney. The park will be known as the Andrew Whitney Park. It is located on Bloscom street.

COX HITS WOOD MILL LAYOFF

Charges American Woolen Shut-down Is Intended to Boost Clothing Prices

Tolendo, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Governor J. M. Cox, Democratic presidential nominee, has instituted a survey of circumstances surrounding the laying off of workmen in various industries following receipt of intimations that Republican leaders plan to use "unemployment" as an argument in persuading workmen to vote against the Democratic ticket in the November elections.

The survey, it was stated, will be directed particularly toward conditions in the mills of the American Woolen Company and those prevailing on certain railroad system.

Governor Cox's attention was first directed to the matter several days ago at Toledo, when a man, whose name was not made public, talked with the Governor and assured him such a plan was being worked out.

"This man told me that a thousand workmen had been laid off in one industry alone for political purposes," said Governor Cox, "and charges that the same interests which he says are contributing to the Republican campaign fund of at least $15,000,000 are seeking to undermine the Federal Reserve Act are abetting the movement to discredit the Democratic party with labor."

"The Republicans say they are limiting contributions to $1,000," said the governor. "Later in the campaign, which I assure you will contain some surprises, I shall give you the names of gentlemen whose contributions were made by themselves and their clerks.

"The American Woolen Company is closing its plant. They are doing it because they wish to cut down supply and drive up the cost of clothing if there are enough millionaires left to buy a suit of clothing at the prices they hope to charge. It has been said that the government should not interfere in business. That is true except when someone under the protection of the government is trying to pick somebody else's pocket."

U. S. JURY FOR HAMMERSTEIN

"Tickle Me" Company and Audience Must Tell What Was in Gift Flasks

New York, Aug. 20.—"Smell that." That's what Prohibition Enforcement Agent Shevlin says one of his investigators said to him, when he presented him with a tiny flask—one of those said to have been distributed at the premiere of "Tickle Me," Oscar Hammerstein's new show, Monday night.

The smell coincided so closely with what the prohibition enforcement agent remembers honest-to-goodness whiskey smelled like, that today he says, Hammerstein, members of his chorus, other actors and actresses and such of the first night audience as can be located will be called upon to tell the grand jury just what was in the flagons.

"It's all right for an actress to lose her pearls for publicity," Shevlin discovered, "but it's more or less of an affront to the United States Government to give whiskey away in violation of the prohibition law. This department does not intend to stand for it."

LIPTON VISITS SING SING

Has Finger Prints Taken and Poses for Rogues' Gallery; Addresses Prisoners

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Sir Thomas Lipton visited Sing Sing. He heard the outer gates clang behind him and the doors of a cell house swing shut and lock—for the popular British baronet and yachtsman missed seeing but little of the prison. He was the guest of Leon Weinstock, vice-president of the State Prison Commission.

The prisoners gave Sir Thomas a rousing reception.

If anything happens to the America's cup race, now, too, the authorities will know in a minute whether Sir Thomas got it. They took his finger prints, Bertillon measurements, and "mugged" him in the rogues' gallery.

In making a short talk to the prisoners, the English sportsman said:

"I am very grateful for your reception, boys. There never was a man born that didn't make a mistake. I've made some mistakes. The thing is when we grow older not to make the same mistakes again. If I come back to America and win the cup, I'll bring it up here and show it to you."

THREE POSTAL CLERKS TRAP ALLEGED THIEF

William A. Murphy of Rosseter street, Dorchester, was arraigned today on a charge of stealing an insured parcel post package from a truck at the North Station. The package was being sent from Malden, Mass., to a woman at Burlington, Vt. Murphy, before Commissioner Hayes, pleaded not guilty, and was held in $500 bail for a hearing August 24. The arrest was caused by three post office clerks, who saw Murphy commit the alleged larceny. They were Harry Brown, William Morrissey and Walter White. They chased Murphy, so the police state, caught him outside the North Station, and caused his arrest.

PROBE HIGH PRICES IN HAVERHILL STORES

Haverhill, Aug. 20.— Alderman George W. Munsey, Jr., has called a meeting of the fair price committee next Monday night for the purpose of listening to complaints in regard to high prices in Haverhill stores.

Members of the fair price committee are Alderman Munsey, chairman; Edward M. Putnam, Elmer H. Nelson, Francis J. Thompson and Mrs. John K. Scrymgeour. They are appointed as inspectors for the commission on the necessaries of life. Alleged profiteering in clothing, sugar, and provisions is to be pushed.

ONE-THIRD OF COAL MINES IN ILLINOIS ARE CLOSED

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Almost one-third of the coal mines of Illinois are closed today, and the State faces another strike because operators and miners failed to agree on an increase for company men after a five-day session at Cleveland. Reports from Indianapolis say many of the Indiana mines are also closed.

BREWERIES ARE CLOSED BY RAID

15 Men Arrested and Beer and Liquor Seized in Bridgeport

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 20.—Three local breweries were ordered closed and fifteen men were arrested in Greenwich, Conn., during a series of spectacular raids conducted by Federal prohibition agents in which 250 barrels of beer and 500 quarts of liquor were seized.

The Connecticut Breweries Company, the Home Brewing Company and Eckart Brothers plant were closed pending an investigation. It is alleged that some of the 250 barrels of beverages seized contained more than 3 per cent. alcohol.

In Greenwich 500 quarts of liquor were taken from four motor trucks and a passenger automobile.

Among those held by the Federal authorities are Joseph Perrullo, who was captured after several shots were fired at the automobile in which he was attempting to escape. Two men and a woman were in the car with Perrullo. They escaped.

FALL RIVER WOMAN HE HAS WORCESTER TAG

Fall River, Aug. 20.—Mary Brown, accused of bigamy, was held in local court for a hearing on Saturday. Harry Brown, husband No. 2, furnished $500 bail and announces his intention of sticking to her. Meanwhile husband No. 1 has engaged counsel in an effort to induce his wife to return to him.

Mary told the court that she grew tired of husband No. 1 and sued him for divorce. She forgot to prosecute the case, however, and married husband No. 2. The latter has been cautioned by the court to remember that Mary is not his wife.

Roxbury Girl in Race for Legislature

Miss Katherine W. Dowling of No. 216 Warren street, Roxbury, has announced her candidacy for the Republican nomination for State representative from Ward 16. There are six other candidates in the field. Miss Dowling has been a prominent suffrage worker for years and also was active in war work. She is a member of the advisory council of the women's division of the Republican State Committee and a member of the Republican Women's Committee of Ward 16.

5 FIREMEN HURT IN CAR CRASH

Responding to General Alarm, Fire Truck Hits Trolley Car in Cambridge

Five firemen of Engine 5, Cambridge, were injured when a fire truck struck a trolley car on Massachusetts avenue in front of City Hall. The apparatus was responding to a general alarm for a fire in a brick building of the American Fire Prevention Products, Albro street. The roof of the building caved in and together with the dense smoke and explosive-like rumble of the crash gave the appearance of a greater conflagration. Damage was estimated at $10,500.

The injured firemen who suffered from sprains and bruises were Captain Herman Guthelm, Lieutenant William Reilly, Hosemen William Johnson and Harry Findley and Driver Hugh Powers.

Quick action of the driver prevented a head-on crash when it was seen that a collision was unavoidable. The fire truck side-swiped the car, bound for Harvard Square, and ran up on the sidewalk. Captain Guthelm and Hosemen Johnson and Findley were thrown off.

FEAR EXECUTION CAUSED SUICIDE

Feci's Brother-in-Law Missing; Grieved Over Death of Slayer

Haverhill, Aug. 20.—Because he was heartbroken over the execution of his brother-in-law, Francisco Feci in the State Prison at Charlestown, Monday morning, Peter De France, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Angelo De France, of No. 14 Wilson street, is believed to have committed suicide and the police are making every effort to find his body or find some trace of his whereabouts.

Young De France, the sole support of his aged mother, was greatly grieved over the execution of his brother-in-law. He expressed a feeling that life had no attraction for him.

He is five feet seven inches tall, has blue eyes, dark hair and dark complexion. When last seen Saturday he wore overalls and a khaki shirt and blue cap.

Circulars bearing his description have been sent by the police all over New England.

CHILDREN RAISING FUNDS FOR HOSPITAL

A number of children of Ipswich, who spend their Summers in and who are members of the C. H. Clubs, are working for the Children's Hospital in Longwood avenue, Boston, will hold a party on Saturday afternoon, August 28. They hope to raise enough money to name three beds at the hospital. The sum of $100 is necessary to name a bed. These Ipswich children include boys and girls, the youngest of whom is eight years old. The party will be held on the estate of Mrs. Roger Warner.

TWO ATLANTIC LINERS AHEAD OF SCHEDULES

Two trans-Atlantic steamships have arrived in Boston ahead of schedule. The Leyland liner Mercian from Manchester, England, came in a day before she was expected. The Norwegian steamer Silkelstad from Cherbourg, France, was not due until Sunday. The Mercian brought cotton, paperstock, machinery and general merchandise. The Silkelstad came in ballast.

WOMAN IN U. S. MAIL 20 YEARS HAS RETIRED

Mrs. Eliza M. Simonds, after more than twenty years of service, was retired today as a clerk of the Lexington Postoffice. Mrs. Simonds was the only woman clerk in the office. Chester W. Doe, a substitute clerk, has been appointed to a regular clerkship in her place. Hugh C. Tupper, a substitute carrier, has been appointed as permanent letter carrier.

What to Use and Avoid On Faces that Perspire

Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must perspire—must exist through the pores its share of the body's waste material. Certain creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing, especially during the heated period. If more women understood this there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics they would have healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Beautiful, transparent, younger under-skin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. The unsightly, sore complexion gradually peels out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Obtain an ounce of mercolized wax from your druggist and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream for a week or two, washing it off morning.

To remove wrinkles, here's a marvelously effective treatment, which also acts naturally and harmlessly: Dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel and use as a wash lotion.—Advertisement.

SAYS SUFFRAGE VOTE STANDS

Reconsideration by Tennessee House Impossible, Asserts Ex-Attorney-General

that the vote could not be reconsidered. Mr. Cates said today that such action would be tantamount to Tennessee's withdrawal of her assent to the amendment, which cannot be done. He declared that it was much the same as if a legislator, before the adoption of the Seventeenth Amendment, had undertaken to reconsider the vote on the election of a United States Senator.

Acting upon this advice, ratification leaders are preparing to meet Speaker Walker's motion with a point of order, and the question will go to the House on appeal.

If it should not be sustained and the anti-ratificationists should muster enough votes to reconsider, an attempt will be made to certify the vote as it appears on the Journal of Wednesday, and Secretary of State Colby will be asked to proclaim the amendment as the law of the land.

Rumors of an investigation of alleged bribery in connection with the suffrage fight failed to materialize in the House. Representative Burn, who switched to the amendment between roll calls, denounced the veiled insinuations against him.

"I was for the amendment after much mature thought," he said, "and from deep conviction that my mother would want me to."

MOTHER TWICE ACCUSED OF SLAYING BABIES

New York, Aug. 20.—For the second time in two years Mrs. Josephine Klinger, aged twenty-eight, of Newark, has been charged with murdering her baby within a few days after birth. She now is accused of strangling her baby girl, born on Monday, with an apron string. She was arrested as she walked on the street, the tiny body wrapped in paper, on her way to dispose of it.

In 1918 the woman was freed of a charge of murdering her six-day-old baby boy by throwing it in a snow bank.

Women Exempt from 1920 Poll Tax

Women voters will be exempt from the $3 poll tax assessed this year.

Election Commissioner Burleson announces that the present statute provides only for the collection from males and special legislation will have to be passed before cities and towns can impose the tax on women.

CHAIRS USED IN McGRAW BRAWL

Relative Merits of British and American Players Led to Lambs Club Fight

New York, Aug. 20.—New light has been thrown on the Lambs Club brawl.

According to information furnished the authorities by a member of the club, a fight in which bottles, chairs and things movable were used as missiles, took place in the club.

It has led the investigators to admit there is more than a little probability that both John J. McGraw and John C. Slavin might have been injured in this fight, rather than in a later altercation.

The fight, which is said to have been terrific while it lasted, arose over the relative merits of American and British players. Harsh words were exchanged by McGraw and supporters of the British end of the argument and the battle was on.

Slavin, it is said, tried to separate the principals in the fight. He was felled by some unseen weapon, and when the row had quieted, was picked up and walked to the taxi with McGraw and Liggett.

Physicians say it is possible that a man's skull might be fractured and he might go several hours without losing consciousness. Slavin dropped when the auto reached the McGraw home.

WOMEN VOTERS IN FINAL RUSH

Today Is Last Chance to Register for the Primaries; Total Now 25,286

Today was the last day for men and women to register for the State primary on September 6.

There was a grand rush of women to the booths to take advantage of their newly-won privilege. Orders had been issued by the election commission that all persons in booths at 10 p. m. should be registered, even if it took until midnight to complete the task.

It was reported today that 5,042 women registered in Boston yesterday, bringing the total up to 25,286. Only 1,049 men registered, making Boston's total registration of male voters up to last night 118,856.

During the day the only place at which women could register in this city was the ground floor of the City Hall Annex. In the evening, in addition to the City Hall Annex, women may register, up to 10 p. m., at special registration places in every ward as follows:

Ward 1—John Cheverus School, Pope street, near Moore street (entry Chaucer street).
Ward 2—Theodore Lyman School, Paris street, corner Gove.
Ward 3—Dover School, Bartlett street.
Ward 4—Frothingham School, Prospect street.
Ward 5—Municipal Building, Bissaon street.
Ward 6—John J. Williams School, Union street.
Ward 7—Booth, lot, Stuart street, corner Trinity place.
Ward 8—Prince School, Ward Room, Exeter street, corner Newbury.
Ward 9—Hawes Hall School, Broadway, near Dorchester street.
Ward 10—Joseph J. Chapman School, Fourth street, corner Emerson street.
Ward 11—Roger Clapp School, Harriet street.
Ward 12—Municipal Building, Dudley street, corner Vine.

Arlington Has 297 Women Voters; Ready for More

Announcement is made by the Arlington registrars of special registration sessions for registering women the coming week, prior the primary next month. On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the registrars will be in session at the Town Hall, from 10 to 12 o'clock, and from 2 to 5 o'clock, in the afternoon They will also be in session from noon until 10 p. m., next Saturday, at the Town Hall, and from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening, at the Crosby School, East Arlington. There are now 297 female voters in Arlington, 112 having been added this week.

Lexington Sets Five Registration Dates

Five special registration periods in the Lexington Town Hall were arranged today in Lexington for the registration of women voters before the primary next month. The registrars will be in session on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday forenoons, from 10 to 12 o'clock. A special evening session will be held next Friday evening, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. These sessions are in addition to the regular meeting of the board on Thursday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, which was arranged for the registration of male voters. It is hoped that the women will save this evening for the men. There are 210 voters in Lexington.

Cambridge Women Give Correct Registration Dates

Owing to an error in printing, the placards on Central cars specify the wrong place for registration of women in Cambridge. The Cambridge League of Women Voters gives out the following correct information:

Women can register in Cambridge, August 23 to 28 inclusive, at City Building, Central square, 2:30 to 5 and 7:30 to 9 p. m.; August 30 to September 4, 2:30 to 5 and 7:30 to 9 p. m., Kelly School, August 30 and 31, 7:30 to 9 p. m.; Ward Room, Ward 11, September 1 and 2, 7:30 to 9 p. m.; Ward Room, Ward 9, September 3 and 4, 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Suffragists Here Are to Hold Celebration

Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, chairman of the executive board of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, has called a meeting of that body for Monday at 10:30 o'clock to plan for a celebration of the ratification of the Federal Suffrage Amendment.

Worcester Looks for 30,000 Women Voters

Worcester, Aug. 20.—Worcester women had all day today to register to vote in the primaries on September 7. The registrars hoped to close their offices at 9 tonight. Already 1,200 have enrolled for the primaries and the registrars expect several hundred more before the flag falls. It is estimated that about 30,000 Worcester women will be eligible to vote.

YOUTH'S MIND A BLANK; ACCUSED OF BIGAMY

An aluminum tag bearing the name of Robert E. Cole, Worcester, found on the person of a young man wandering about the North Station, a victim of amnesia, leads the Boston police to believe he comes from that city and the authorities there have been asked to identify him.

He is unable to remember his name, residence or anything about himself. He is about nineteen years old, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, of light complexion, and wore a gray mixed coat, blue serge trousers, light cap with green stripes, low tan shoes and black stockings. He is at the City Hospital.

CHARLESTOWN BOY FALLS UNDER WHEELS OF AUTO

John Kelly, aged fourteen, of No. 13 Salem street, Charlestown, attempting to climb into an automobile at Commercial and Hanover streets, fell under the wheels. At the Relief Hospital he was found to be suffering from contusions of the right leg and abrasions of the back and was held for treatment.

LOSES $300 ON WAY TO NANTASKET BEACH

Heartbroken over the loss of more than $300 in cash—all the money she has in the world—Mrs. Katherine Dickey, forty-seven years old, of No. 7 Worcester street, reported to the police that somewhere between Rowe's wharf and Nantasket beach her money fell from her stocking. Mrs. Dickey is a cripple, and has appealed for assistance in finding it.

Sanction Liquor for Mince Pie Seasoning

Washington, Aug. 20.—Mince pies are likely to become more popular than ever this fall for under a ruling made by the Prohibition Enforcement Commissioner "intoxicating liquor" may be freely used to season them, that is if one is fortunate enough to have the "wet goods" for that purpose.

The percentage of alcohol is not even limited. Manufacturers of the pies are required only to obey orders from time to time. The commissioner has been advised by chemists that properly made mince pies are not intoxicating.

dered a day of thanksgiving, with prayers to celebrate the deliverance of the city.

The defeat of the Red army was due to the skillful plans of the French and British army officers who are directing Polish operations.

(Note. This is the first revelation that British officers have been taking an active part in aiding the Poles. Previous dispatches referred only to French army officers.)

Polish airmen report great confusion behind the Russian lines. It is believed that the Reds will not be able to rally for another attempt against Warsaw.

While the Russian advance towards the Vistula has been brought to a standstill and the Russians are being driven back at many points on the front, the Soviet army in Galicia is attempting to attack to divert the attention of the Poles. The Russians that have been threatening Lemberg have crossed the Bug River.

British Rushed to Quell Mesopotamia Revolt

London, Aug. 20.—Revolution has broken out in Mesopotamia, and British reinforcements are being rushed from India to quell the disorders, the War Office announced today.

"Northeast and west of Bagdad the outbreaks are on a considerable scale," said the War Office. "The railway line between Bagdad and Kifrikirkut has been cut and the bridges burned. The British garrison at Kifrikirkut has been surrounded. Anarchy prevails in some districts."

Reds Open New Drive Against Wrangel

Correspondents of the International News Service and the London Daily Express.

Constantinople, Aug. 19, via London, Aug. 20.—The Russian Soviet army on the South Russian (Crimean) front has increased its pressure against the army of General Wrangel and was reported today to be advancing along the entire front.

The Reds have reached ground only ten miles west of the Alexandrovsk-Hartlinsk railway north of the Sea of Azov.

Violent fighting is in progress between the Bolshevikl and General Wrangel's "white" forces south-west of Orlekov in the vicinity of Karbova. The Reds have been reinforced.

Program Adopted at Minsk Peace Parley

Paris, Aug. 20.—The Polish and Russian armistice and peace plenipotentiaries at Minsk have held a second meeting and adopted a program for further discussion, according to official advices received by the French foreign office today. No further details have been received.

Foreign office officials believe that the Russians purposely cut off the Polish envoys' communication with Warsaw in order to conceal the military defeat of the Russian army.

DEVANEY LANDS FIFTH PLACE IN 3,000-METRE STEEPLECHASE

BIG EVENT GOES TO BRITON

Yankee Athletes Continue to Pile Up Points in Antwerp Meet

By "TED" MEREDITH,
American Quarter and Half-Mile Champion and Famous Olympic Winner.

Antwerp, Aug. 20.—P. Hodge of Zogland ran England's points in the seventh Olympiad forward today when he finished first in the 3,000-metre steeplechase. His time was 10 minutes 2-5 of a second. Following the Englishman home, Ekyan of Finland, Ambrosoni of Italy took third place, with Mattson, Sweden, fourth.

A few points were added to the American total when Mike Devaney, Mitrose A. C., New York, finished fifth and A. L. Hulsenbeck, New York A. C., got home sixth.

Pat McDonald's injured hand did not keep him from registering with those who qualified for the 16-pound weight event. Pat Ryan, who won the 16-pound hammer throw, also qualified.

Three Americans got into the finals for the 3,000-metre walk. They are Richard P. Remen, Walkers' Club, New York; T. A. Maroney, St. Agnis A. A., New York, and W. J. Kelker, New York A. C. J. B. Pearman, New York A. C., the other American starter in this event, was disqualified.

Although a chilling drizzle lowered the spirits of all contestants at the Olympiad on the fifth day, the performance of the American entries in all events brought cheer to their teammates and supporters. The American team, after piling up a total of seventeen points for the day, is that many more in the lead of Finland, the nearest opponent, which failed to place a man in any event.

The victory of Pat Ryan, giant New York policeman, in the hammer throw; the record of the American runners in taking all four heats in the 800-metre dash trials; the performance of our quarter-milers in winning four out of five of the trials of the 400-metre race—all went to overcome the deadening effect of the weather upon the athletes who were not competing.

Pat Ryan First in Hammer Throw

These performances also did much to overcome the disappointment over failure of our men to get better than third place in the 1,500-metre run, which was won by A. G. Hill of England.

Pat Ryan's win in the hammer contest added one more first place to our score. Although the big weight heaver's toss of 173.45 feet fell far short of the record, it was not a bad performance under the prevailing conditions and was sufficient to win the most important item. Carl Lind of Sweden took second in swinging the 16-pound ball, and the United States scored again when Bennet made third. Svensson of Sweden was fourth, and McGrath of New York fifth. Nicholson of England was sixth.

McGrath undoubtedly would have scored better had he not twisted his knees in the trials, but his record made at the games in Stockholm in 1913, still stands at 54.74 meters.

Joie Ray also had some excuse in the 1,500-meter run. He was sure that the strained tendon in his right leg was completely mended, but he had all our people worried and after leading the field in within 200 yards of the finish, was forced to fall behind, having run himself out. Hill, the Englishman won handily, with Baker, a teammate, second. Shields of the Swedish Brook Club, Philadelphia, led the Americans at third. The time for the event was 4 minutes 1 4-5 seconds, poor when compared with the record, but good when the heavy track is taken into consideration. Hill is the first double winner at this Olympiad.

Four U. S. Stars in 200-Metre Run

Yonralik of Czecho-Slovakia was fourth in the 1,500; Lundgren, Sweden, fifth, and Audinot, France, sixth.

Four Americans registered in the trials for the 400-meter event. Emery, Schiller, Shea and Myself, all qualified. Rudd of South Africa and Andre of France.

Teammates Act as Pall Bearers; Big Floral Tribute from Cleveland Citizens

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—Funeral services for Ray Chapman, the Cleveland shortstop, who died as the result of being struck in the head by a pitched ball, were held in the Philomena's Church, East Cleveland, today.

The Cleveland team attended in a body, making a special trip from New York to be present. Three of the dead player's team-mates, Manager Tris Speaker, Catcher Steve O'Neil and Outfielder Joe Wood, acted as pall bearers as did Tom Rafferty of Boston, a former associate of Chapman on the Cleveland club. Other pallbearers were William Smith, president of the Pioneer Alloys Company, of which Chapman was secretary and treasurer, and Walter, Martin B. and Daniel Daly, brothers of Miss Chapman.

MADONNA SETS RECORDS IN GOLDEN WHEEL RACE

Vincent Madonna smashed all records from thirty-five to fifty miles for both the old and new Revere Beach cycle tracks, in winning the Golden Wheel race at the Oval. Fan Dies as "Babe" Hits 43d Homer

New York, Aug. 20.—Babe Ruth stepped to the plate in the sixth inning of today's game at the Polo Grounds.

There was a flush of expectancy. One man leaned forward in his seat in a box; tense with excitement.

Ruth's bat met the ball with a crash, and the spheroid sailed out toward the farthest bleachers for his forty-third homer. The crowd yelled, all but the man in the box. He slumped forward, dead from heart failure.

Papers in his pockets identified him as Theodore Storm, Melrose, Long Island. Physicians said his heart was weak.

ROBSON PICKED BY MANY FANS

Chances of Malden Battler to Defeat O'Dowd Brighten as Time Goes By

By JACK CONWAY.

From the time John L. Sullivan was supreme in the heavyweight class down to the day at Toledo when Jack Dempsey battered Jess Willard into submission, a powerful right-hand punch has been the greatest asset of a fighter. It has been as necessary to the young man who hoped to win a championship as money is to a banker or a press is to a newspaper.

Now, and then there has been a David of the ring, who, through the use of some uncanny skill, has been able to bring the Goliath of the squared arena to his knees. It has usually been however, beep the fellow with the rib smashing punch who has accomplished the greatest results in the ring.

As Johnny Cuddy's arena at Lawrence tomorrow afternoon Tommy Robson of Malden will try to prove that the big wallop is still king. He will attempt to crash his iron right against Mike O'Dowd's jaw. If he is successful, Robson says the former world's middleweight champion will be counted out.

Those fans who have been fortunate in seeing Robson train at Frankie Callahan's camp at North Reading are of the opinion that the Malden warrior will win inside of the limit. They assert that Tommy is in splendid physical condition and that he is hitting harder than ever with his right.

Robson Came Near Kayoing Jack Britton

This recalls how near Robson came to knocking out Jack Britton, welterweight champion, at the Arena several years ago. For ten rounds Britton managed to outpoint his opponent. Then came the "break" in the battle. Britton left his guard drop for a second. It was the opening Robson had been waiting for. The Malden man's right shot through space like a bolt from the blue. The blow landed flush on Britton's jaw. It sent him crashing across the ring as the referee counted. Britton was dazed, but managed to last out the round by holding on to his opponent.

"If it hadn't been for the ropes Britton would have landed out on Massachusetts avenue," said Dan Morgan after the battle.

Robson will find it much easier to hit O'Dowd than he did to score in his tussle with Britton. St. Paul Mike can swing with his rival wide open. He doesn't believe there is a man in the world who can knock him out. He will probably follow his usual rushing, two-handed style of fighting at Lawrence tomorrow afternoon. All of which will make it easier for Robson to count with his right.

Promoter Cuddy is prepared to handle a capacity crowd. The fans there will be popular assessments for this show means that many more thousands of dollars than would be the case if grand opera prices were charged.

Fruzetti and Carlson Ready for Tussle

While Robson is trying to prove that the right hand is still king, Jimmy Fruzetti and Harry Carlson will be mingling at an open-air show to be conducted by the Farrington A. A. at Walkover Field, Brockton. This tussle will bring together a fighter and a master boxer. Fruzetti is the boxer, while Carlson is a graduate of the school of ring science.

Murphy Wins, With 78

George Murphy of Wollaston won the open handicap golf tournament held at the home club with the comparatively large score of 78.

BOSTON HAS NO GAME TODAY

Indians Attending Funeral of Ray Chapman at Cleveland

By NICK FLATLEY

Boston was without baseball today, as the Cleveland Indians, scheduled to play here, were attending the funeral services of Ray Chapman, the little shortstop who was killed by a pitched ball in New York Monday. The game was put over until Monday, when it will be played as part of a double header. As the Indians will be here tomorrow for a pair of pastimes, there will be plenty of baseball to make up for the layoff.

The ultimate game of the Detroit series was converted into disaster by chubby Dutch Leonard, who tossed one of the finest frays of his lengthy career. The Sox just naturally couldn't hit Dutch, and were accordingly blanked without any bother.

STORE TEAMS TO PLAY AT NANTASKET OUTING

A baseball game between the R. H. White Company and A. Shuman & Company teams will be one of the features at the annual outing of the A. Shuman Mutual Benefit Association at Wills Neck, Nantasket, tomorrow. In addition there will be several competitions for the A. Shuman employes. A check for $10 will be hidden somewhere about the grounds and will go to the finder. The party will leave Rowe's wharf at 10:15 a. m. and will march from the landing to the grounds.

DAVIS AND ROBERTS BEAT WILLIAMS AND HARTE

Willis Davis and Roland Roberts of California defeated R. Norris Williams, 2nd, and Richard Harte, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3 in the national doubles tournament on the Chestnut Hill courts.

Wallace F. Johnson and S. W. Pearson of Philadelphia won 3-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6 from W. T. Hayes and R. H. Burdick of Chicago. William M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin were forced to go four sets to defeat A. Tenekjian, the Australian and L. E. Mahan.

KELLER AND HILL VS. OSCAR EGG

Special Pursuit Race at Revere Tomorrow Night Promises Plenty of Thrills

Can one good big man defeat two good little men?

This is the question of the hour with the bike fans following the announcement by Manager Butler that he had signed Oscar Egg to meet Keller and Hill in a special pursuit race in one of the features at the bike carnival at the Revere oval tomorrow night.

Tomorrow night promises to be a banner one for the bike boys. Among the stars who will show in a series of races are Ray Eaton, Alfred Spencer, Alfred Goullet and Pete Moskopp—four top-liners and champions in this department of the game.

In addition to the sprint races, a fifty-mile motor-paced event is on the program. This will be known as the Pilgrim Cup race, and while the field has not been announced Manager Butler says he will select the best available men.

The pros and amateurs will also have their innings.

So, in spite of his resentment at what Grismer had done, Cleland felt slightly sorry for this friendless man. For Grismer was a solitary soul, and Cleland, who had suffered from loneliness enough to understand it, gradually became conscious of the intense loneliness of this man, even amid his popularity with women and their sympathetic and sentimental curiosity concerning him.

But no man seemed to care for closer intimacy with Grismer than a friendly acquaintanceship offered. There was something about him that did seem to attract or invite men's careless comradeship or confidence.

"It's those floating golden specks in his eyes," said Belzer, discussing him one day with Cleland. "He's altogether too auriferous and graceful to be entirely genuine, Cleland —too easy and too damned bland. Poor bargee, have you noticed how shabby and shiny he's getting? I guess he's down and out for fair financially."

Hard Up Financially

Cleland had noticed it. The man's linen was visibly frayed. His clothes, too, betrayed his meagre circumstances, yet he wore them so well, and there was such a courtly indifference in the man, that the shabby effect seemed due to a sort of noble carelessness.

Cleland had never called on Grismer. He had no inclination to do so, no particular reason, except that Grismer had invited him several times. Yet an uneasy curiosity lurked within him concerning Grismer's abode and wife. Whether Stephanie, always serenely unconventional, ever went there.

He didn't care to think she did. Yet, after all, the girl was the man's legal wife, and there was no moral law to prevent her going there and taking up her abode if she were so inclined.

Cleland never asked her if she went there, perhaps dreading her reply.

As far as that was concerned, he could not find any of his friends or acquaintances who had been in Grismer's lodgings. Nobody even seemed to know exactly where they were, except that Grismer lived somewhere in Bleecker street and never entertained.

At times when Stephanie was not to be found and his unhappy inference placed in her Grismer's company, he felt an unscrupulous inclination to call on Grismer and find out whether the girl was there. But the impulse was a fool one and made him ashamed, and his envy and jealousy disgusted him with himself.

Miserable at Times

Besides, his state of mind was painfully confused and uncertain in regard to Stephanie. He was in love with her, evidently. But the utter lack of sentimental response on her part afforded his love for her no nourishment.

He traversed the entire scale of emotions. When he was not with her he often came to the exasperated conclusion that he could learn to forget her; when he was with her the idea seemed rather hopeless.

The unfortunate part of it seemed to be that, like his father's, his was a single-track heart. He'd never been in love, unless this was love. Anyway, Stephanie occupied the single track and there seemed to be no switches, no sidings, nothing to clear that track.

He was exceedingly miserable at times.

However, his mind was equipped with a whole terminal full of tracks and every one was busy in the service of his profession.

For a month now, he had been installed in his studio apartment on the top floor. He picked up on Fourth and on Madison avenues enough preciously rickety furniture to make him comfortable and drive friends to distraction when they ventured to trust themselves to chair or sofa.

But his writing table and corner-chair were solid and modern, and he had half a dozen things under construction—a novel, some short stories, some poems, which he modestly mentioned as verses.

Except for the unexplored mazes in which first love had involved him he was happy—exceedingly happy. But, to a creative mind, happiness born of self-expression is a weird, uncanny, composite emotion, made up of ecstatic hope and dolorous despair and well peppered with dread and confidence, cowardice and courage, rage and tranquility; and further seasoned with several devilish doubt and celestial satisfaction that the heart of a writer is heir to.

The Demon "Doubt"

In the morning he was certain of himself. He was the captain of his destiny; he was the dictator of his inspiration, equipped with the technical mastery to make his obedient thoughts dare not disobey.

By afternoon the demon Doubt had shaken his self-confidence, and Fear peered at him impishly between lips of his manuscript, and it was a case of Childe Roland from that time on until the pencil fell from his unnerved fingers and he arose from his work agitated, half-stunned, not knowing whether he had done well or meanly. Vaguely he realized at such moments that, for such as he, a just appraisal of his own work would never be possible for him—that he himself would never know—and that what men said of it—if, indeed, they ever said anything about his work —would never wholly convince him, never entirely satisfy him as to its value or its worthlessness.

Towards the end of May, one afternoon, Stephanie came into his studio, seated herself calmly in his chair and picked up his manuscript.

"It's so good," he said, throwing himself on an antique sofa, which just endured the strain and no more.

She read for an hour, her gray eyes never leaving the written pages. Now and then she looked inward with the strain of conversation.

He watched her, chin on hand, lying there on the sofa.

But the air was mild and languorous with the promise of coming Summer; sunshine fell across the wall; the boy dozed, presently, and after a while lay fast asleep.

She had been gone for some time when he awoke. As he sat up, blinking through the late afternoon sunshine, a pencilled sheet of yellow manuscript paper fluttered from his breast to the floor.

"Jim, it is fine. I mean it. It is a splendid, virile, honest piece of work. And it is intensely interesting. I'm quite mad about it—quite thrilled that you can do such things. It's so masterly, so mature—and I don't know where you got your knowledge of that woman, because she is perfectly feminine and women think and do such things, and her motives are the motives that animate that sort of woman.

"As you lie there asleep you look about eighteen—not much older than when I used to see you when you came home from school and lay on your sofa and read Kipling aloud to me. Then I was awed; you were a grown man to me. Now you are just a boy again, and I love you dearly, and I'm going to kiss your hair, very cautiously, before I go downstairs.

"I've done it. I'm going now.

"STEVE."

CHAPTER XXII.

It happened one day late in May that Cleland, desiring local accuracy of detail in a chapter of his brand new novel, put on his hat and walked to Washington Square and across it, south, into the slums.

New leaves graced the trees in the park; Spring flowers bloomed around the fountain, and the air was frankly fragrant where it had just been mowed.

But he left the Spring freshness behind him when he entered that sad, dingy, swarming region to the south, where the only clean creature seemed to be the occasional policeman in his new Summer tunic.

He sauntered aloof amid the noise and wretchedness and the foul odors made fouler by the sunshine.

Cleland presently found the squalid street which he wished to describe in convincing detail, and stood there on the corner in the shelter of a tobacconist's awning making preliminary mental notes. Then, as he fished out notebook and pencil, intent on professional memoranda, he saw Grismer.

The man wore shabbier clothes than Cleland had ever before seen him wear; he was crossing the filthy street at his usual graceful and leisurely saunter, and he did not see Cleland under the awning.

There was a cheap, dirty restaurant opposite, a shabby, disreputable, odoriferous place, doubly repulsive in the pitiless sunshine. And into this sauntered Grismer.

The slight shock of the episode remained to bother Cleland all the morning. He kept thinking of it while trying to work; he could not seem to put it from his mind and finally threw aside his manuscript, took his hat and stick and went out with the intention of lunching.

It was nearly lunch time, but he did not walk toward the cream-colored Hotel Rochambeau, with its green awnings and its Persian flag flying. He took the other way, scarcely realizing what he meant to do until he turned the corner into Bleecker street.

He found the basement he was in search of presently; two steps down, an area gate and bell encrusted with rust, and a diseased and homeless cat dozing there in patient misery.

"Your poor devil," he said, offering a cautious caress; but the gaunt creature struck at him and fled.

He rang. Jangling echoes resounded from within. Two negro wenches and a Chinaman surveyed him from adjoining houses. He could smell a negro fish from the beer saloon opposite, where a fat German beast was washing down the sidewalk with a mop.

Into a Basement

"Hello, Cleland. This is very nice of you. Come in," said a pleasant voice behind him, and he turned. Grismer, in shabby slipper and faded dressing gown, opened the iron wicket.

"I hadn't called," said Cleland, a little stiffly, "so I thought I'd drop in for a moment and take you out somewhere to lunch."

The Adventures of Ann

By HAL COFFMAN

"I Shan't—I Shan't Do It!"

CHAPTER VII.

As the big mahogany door of Harwood's apartment swung slowly open Ann and the mysterious woman entered. Harwood's suave Japanese valet bowed very low, asked them to be seated and told them Harwood would be there in a moment.

Ann in all her wildest dreams had never seen a room equal to this one. It was larger than the whole apartment in which she lived. Priceless rugs, porcelain vases, the hidden lights that seemed to come from unseen places, the colored fountain that softly murmured in the centre of the room. The absolute quiet, restfulness and richness of it all awed her, for this was indeed fairyland, thought Ann.

The Japanese valet touched a button and the most enchanting music she had ever heard drifted out from nowhere.

"How could any place ever be so lovely?" thought Ann, as her big brown eyes took it all in. Her companion was nervous and did not sit down, as Ann had done, but wandered about the room. She took a cigarette from a large silver box on the table, lighted it and resumed her pacing about the floor.

If one had watched her closely she could have seen sugar biting her lips and clenching her hands as she muttered:

"I shan't. I shan't do it, no matter what he does, it shall never be."

But Ann was too interested in other things to notice or hear her.

Harwood had come into the room so noiselessly that Ann did not realize he was there until he stood before her, bowing very low, with that smile of his that could be so winning when he chose and so cruel at other times.

"Why, if it isn't the little girl I met singing so prettily in the hallway not so long ago," he said. "We must attend to that voice of hers and have the great Savoni cultivate it, for it is too precious to be wasted."

Ann was so flustered she hardly heard what was said as the mysterious woman formally introduced them. Harwood sat on the luxurious divan and talked in his most charming manner to Ann (and Harwood could indeed be charming when he chose). Ann's companion watched his every move and listened to the honeyed words that flowed so easily from his lips —even if it was an old, old story to HER.

SEEKS SEARLES ADMINISTRATOR

Request to Be Heard Filed by Attorneys for Millionaire's Nephew

Acting in behalf of Albert Victor Searles, nephew of the late Methuen millionaire, Edward F. Searles, who was cut off in the latter's will with a bequest of $250,000, Currier Young, Boston attorneys, have filed with the Essex county registrar of probate, a request that they have an opportunity to be heard on any application for a special administrator for the $50,000,000 estate.

The action is intended to protect the interest of young Searles, said former Senator Guy W. Currier, head of the law firm, and does not necessarily mean that an attempt is to be made to break the will.

FACE LOSS OF INHERITANCE.

According to the terms of the will any attempt to break it means the absolute cutting off of the inheritance of the beneficiary who starts such action.

Attorneys for the present beneficiaries of the Searles will hope that it may not be necessary for them to file suit to break the document, for other relatives, ready and willing to fight, have appeared.

Dennis F. Mayo of Mechanic Falls, Me., a seventy-seven-year-old cousin of the dead millionaire, has engaged as counsel former Congressman Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, Me. Whether he will attempt to contest the will is problematical. As he is not now named in the instrument he has nothing to lose, it is pointed out.

COUSIN A CLAIMANT.

Another relative that Mr. Searles overlooked in his last testament is Mrs. Susan E. Allen of No. 4518 Delmar Boulevard, St. Louis. She is a cousin, and her attorneys have been active in securing information in regard to the will. She states, however, that she will probably not contest the will.

Dissatisfied claimants have until September 8 to file formal objections and ask for a hearing. That an effort will be made to prevent Arthur T. Walker of New York from securing the bulk of the $50,000,000 property is the firm intention of the relatives.

MANNIX PROTEST ON COMMON

Irish Societies Plan Parade Before Meeting on Sunday; Rallies All Over State

Action on the proposed parade of Irish societies Sunday afternoon as a protest against the British government's treatment of Archbishop Mannix of Melbourne in refusing to allow him to visit his mother in Ireland will be taken tonight at a meeting of representatives from forty-nine organizations in Hibernian Hall, Dudley street, Roxbury.

Plans for the parade were discussed at a recent meeting when committees were appointed to arrange for a big protest meeting on Boston Common, Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, and it was decided to defer definite action until tonight. If the parade is ordered it is expected that approximately 10,000 will be in line.

Whether the parade plan is carried out or not the arrangements for Sunday's meeting on the Common will be completed. It is planned to have prominent speakers from New York and New Jersey.

The O'Donovan Rossa Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom will cooperate with other Irish societies in Somerville in holding a protest meeting in Lincoln Park, that city, Sunday afternoon. Gerald L. McSweeney heads the committee of arrangements.

Thomas F. Linehan of the Malden Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom is arranging for a meeting in Craddock Park, Malden, Sunday afternoon. Protest meetings will also be held in other parts of the State.

BACK BAY GIRL'S AUTO IN CRASH; MAN HURT

One man was injured and an automobile wrecked in a collision at Commonwealth avenue and Gloucester street between a car driven by Miss Dorothy Drake of No. 87 Fairfield street, and a machine owned by the Sun Company, No. 40 Court street, and driven by C. W. Painter of No. 134 Brattle street, Cambridge. The injured man is Ronald Drysdale, aged thirty-eight, of Codman square, Dorchester, a passenger in the Sun Company's car. He was treated at the City Hospital for cuts and bruises. Painter escaped injury, but the machine was wrecked. Miss Drake's car was only slightly damaged.

EPISCOPALIANS CARRY ON HICKSON HEALING WORK

The Episcopal churches of Greater Boston will continue the healing mission started some time ago by James Moore Hickson of England. A committee consisting of Dean E. S. Rousmaniere of St. Paul's Cathedral, the Rev. Messrs. F. W. Fitts, T. R. Kimball, W. H. Pettus and J. W. Suter, have charge of the replies to information bearing upon the results of the healing mission in this city during the stay of Hickson.

WAR CROSS AWARDED TO HYANNIS VETERAN

A Distinguished Service Cross from the War Department was publicly awarded to former Private Clarence A. Crowell, son of Freeman Crowell, Sea street, Hyannis, in the Hyannis town square. The cross and citation were for exceptional bravery in carrying messages under heavy artillery fire. Crowell was a member of the 26th Division.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR BOSTON PRIEST

The Rev. Fr. Robert Swickerath, S. J., of St. Mary's parish, North End, who was recently assigned to work abroad among the poor of foreign countries, was given a farewell reception at St. Mary's Theatre, Cooper street, by more than 2,000 parishioners. He will leave Boston within a week or ten days.

QUESTIONNAIRES SENT TO COAL DEALERS

Questionnaires were forwarded to coal dealers throughout Massachusetts today by the Commission on the Necessities of Life for the purpose of determining the amount of coal on hand in the various communities and as a means of ascertaining measures which will remedy the shortage.

Stocks at Their Highest in New York at Noon; Money 7%; Foreign Exchange Irregular

WAR NEWS THE BIG FACTOR

All Kinds of Securities Advance During Morning and Trading Is More Active

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, prices being at their highest for the morning. While banking opinions regarding the money outlook were more favorable, satisfactory war news was the big factor behind the advance.

Trading was on a broader scale, first hour transactions aggregating 150,000 shares. As usual call money was quoted at 7 per cent at the opening. Foreign exchange rates were irregular, but alterations were slight. Demand sterling was up a quarter of a cent at $3.58. Kelly Springfield was among strongest stocks, showing a five-point gain at its best.

UP AT THE OUTSET.

Prices were higher at the outset, little gains ranging from fractions to eight points. Houston Oil advanced the most. Other changes were small on the average and only a few issues sold a point higher. The upward movement was due to covering of shorts, although a little more buying from the outside was reported. It was largely of the odd lot variety. Here and there an investor is picking up stocks. Buying of this kind will be large, it is believed, if the public becomes convinced that the bottom has been reached. Stocks showed enough strength then for several days. Punta Alegre advancing five points during the first hour.

Mexican Petroleum led the oils, with Pan American close behind. Crucible, Republic and Republic did the best in the steel department; Chandler gained three and was foremost among motors, while Baldwin, the only active equipment, advanced a point. Rails ruled a little higher, with Baltimore & Ohio the only one up a point or more in early trading. War news from Poland contributed more than anything else to send stocks up.

WESTERN BANKERS HOPEFUL.

Western bankers are talking about the money situation in a little encouraging way. They are in a region where agriculture is the great wealth producer and see good crops on every hand. Eastern bankers are where communities depend upon industries in the main and are in an environment where depression is more or less evident at times. Both sets of bankers tend to a certain extent to color the whole landscape in the local view. The European situation, it may be said also, is apt to have more influence upon New York than upon Chicago.

As to Chicago views, Hanker Van Vorden agrees with Banker Hamilton saying that the danger spot in crop moving is in August, although the peak of demand for loan loans is not reached until about October 15. But Banker Van Vorden disagrees with both, remarking that October is the period to be feared and that this year is peculiar in that the record high-water country bank requirements this month were the greatest ever known. Mr. Van Vorden is president of the First National of Chicago, falls to see how money can tighten when general liquidation is not proceeding fast enough to offset the accumulation of rural requirements.

Corporation Earnings

For July the Cities Service Co. reports a gain of $534,192 in gross and $336,214 in net, as compared with July, 1919, when gross was $1,-311,978 and net $2,525,253. The increase in gross over any month this year was $1,000,000.

For the year to end with October next it is figured that earnings of Lake Superior Corp. should be able to report sales totaling $226,-000,000 or only $6,000,000 less than the total for the 1919 fiscal year.

The Steel & Tube Co. reports for the seven months ended with July net income after Federal taxes and charges, but before depreciation, of $1,282,542, which equal after preferred dividends to $0.74 a share on common stock.

The Ramos-King Development Co. reports for the second quarter of this year gross receipts of $25,381 and operating expenses of $5,161 and net earnings of $20,219. For the first three of that period the company had $127,638 in cash and Liberty bonds and owed no bills payable.

The Chandler Motor Co.'s July earnings before taxes were $1,183,000 and seven months' earnings were $6,414,000 which compares with $5,231,000 for the entire year 1919.

At the end of 1919 Pittsburgh and Lake Erie carried in gold and foreign exchange the item of $2,450,109, against $1,450,552 at the end of 1918.

For 1919 the Michigan Central shows net earnings before surplus over dividends and war taxes $2,485,433, which is equal to $18.32 a share on the $13,750,000 stock, against $11,-846,433 or $17.25 a share on $13,750,000 in 1918.

For the year ended June 30 the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway reports for 1919 gross income of $11,196,574, a decrease of $418,000 over the previous year. Net corporate income amounted to $777,788, against $1,139,203 for the previous year.

Earnings of the U. S. Food Products Corporation and subsidiaries, for the second quarter of 1920 were $1,000,000 after charges for depreciation and all fixed charges, to $1,052,-000 being at a rate of $4 a share on the preferred and $2.25 a share on the common.

July earnings of the Columbia Gas & Electric Co. increased $65,000 and the increase for seven months was $916,926.

Foreign Exchange

French Francs $9.00 per hundred, German Marks $2.65 per hundred, Italian Lire $6.50 per hundred, Austrian Kronen $10.00 per thousand, Russian Rubles $2.50 per 100. Currency, spot delivery. Buying foreign monies outright is our advice to the conservative investor. This is the safest way that we know of to take advantage of opportunities offered in the Foreign Money Exchange.

German and Austrian Municipal Bonds

The bonds of the cities mentioned below, aside from their powers of taxation, generally known in fee, harbor works, water works, street railways, light and power plants, etc., which are income producing, the value of which is largely exceeded by the funded debt of the cities, are usually amortized by means of sinking funds of varying percentages, which may be increased at the option of the municipal authorities. These bonds have always paid their interest promptly and in our opinion offer an unusual investment opportunity and can be liquidated at any time at the prevailing market prices.

HOW RAIL EARNINGS HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED

It is a mistake to assume that the holders of railway stocks and bonds collect from the earning of their common carriers. An analysis of railroad expenditures by Slason Thompson shows that in 1918 the "distribution of the railway dollar" was as follows: Labor 54.66 per cent.; fuel 11.11 per cent.; material 14.40 per cent.; loss and damage 2.02 per cent.; taxes 3.57 per cent.; interest on funded and unfunded debt 8.74 per cent.; rent of leased road 2.53 per cent.; betterments 6.56 per cent.; available for dividends, reserves and surplus 2.45 per cent.

"The first charge, by law and by practice, on all earnings of a railroad is for money wages of employes and for purchase of materials," it is said. "In 1918 46.6 per cent. of the railway dollar went to labor. Two years later labor's share had increased to 54 cents. On basis of 1918 computation, out of every dollar earned by railroads they pay out 79.57 cents in wages and for fuel and materials. This money goes to railroad worker, coal miner, worker in iron and steel plants, in car and engine building plants and in the many industries which supply materials to the country's foremost buyer. Taxes are paid to Federal government, to States and to municipalities, running to many millions in the aggregate. On basis of 1918 returns, only 2.45 cents out of every dollar was available for dividends and to build up reserves and surplus to assure credit of the carriers."

Exports of Mineral Oil

Mineral oil exported from this country during June, 1920, had a total valuation of $46,400,766, against exports aggregating $33,459,915 for the like 1919 month, and $28,350,780 for June, 1918. This is an increase of 60 per cent. in value in two years. May exports amounted to $49,113,883, a high record.

Gold Mining More Costly

Concerning gold mining in California, C. G. Yale of the Geological Survey reports that production in that State during the first half of this year was $1,086,520 less than for the corresponding 1919 period and he says that while a few years ago profit could be made on ore that yielded $2.50 a ton, today there is none on ore that yields less than $6.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Aug. 20.—The cotton market had a big opening with initial trades in all most every month. August dropped 125 points and other positions 25 to 30 points on the first call. Selling was heavy in general and this was due to weaker spot markets, cables and private reports from the south. Liquidation by shorts, opening prices were: August, September 37.50, October 37.00, December 36.00, January 35.90, March 35.75, April 35.50, May 35.60, June 35.45, July 35.45.

Production by Copper Mines

July copper production by three mining companies was as follows: Wolverine Copper Mining Co., 246,342 pounds, compared with 327,682 pounds in June and 305,605 pounds in May; Mohawk, 498,559 pounds, against 754,301 pounds in June and 803,294 pounds in May, and the Michigan Copper Mining Co., 112,594 pounds, against 130,892 pounds in June and 112,824 pounds in May.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Wheat opened 1 to 2c lower, Corn was off ¼ to ⅝c. Oats declined ⅛ to ¼c. Provisions were generally steady. Opening prices were: Wheat, December, 2.03½; March, 2.07; corn, September, 1.40¾; December, 1.39¾@1.39⅝; May, 1.38¼@1.38⅝. Oats, September, 68⅝@67⅞; December, 67¼@67⅛. Lard, September, 18.25; January, 15.90. Short ribs, September, 16.00; January, 15.90; March, 15.75; April, 15.50; May, 15.60; June, 15.45.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Offers the Most Profitable Field for Investment

German Exchange

Over one hundred per cent. has been made on money invested for four months in German bonds. The normal value of the 1000 Mark bond is $238. Three bonds cost $11 last February and have since more than doubled. $500 invested today in German bonds will be worth over $1500 if held until the mark returns to normal.

Austrian Exchange

Austrian bonds are offered today at a price which will enable a profit of over 1500% for every $1.00 invested. The Austrian crown offered 1/400 of a cent in 1914 now sells for 1/6 to a million kronen. Make a fortune today by purchasing these bonds at 1/250 of 1% and watch the crown regain its former value.

LOCAL MARKET IS FIRMER

Gains Common on Boston Exchange at Opening and Later; Curb Improves

The Boston market displayed strength at the start and remained strong during the morning. But trading was of small volume and lacking in breadth. Fluctuations were not large as a rule and speculation on the local exchange presented nothing that was novel or interesting. In fact, it was the same kind of a market as has existed in all Summer. Copper Range sold exdividend and at a new low for the year. New Haven began with a point gain and increased it by a fraction. On its initial sale Eastern Steamship advanced two. Internationals Packing, the most active packing issue, up more than a point at one time during the forenoon. Mohawk gained 1 1-2. All other early changes were fractional.

Among issues to show small gains were Ventura, National Leather, Carson Hill, Elder, Eastern Manufacturing, Swift & Co., Brazilian, Gray & Davis and Atlas Tack.

Small losses were sustained by American Telephone, Copper Range, Mayfair-Old Colony, Libby and Swift International.

CURB MARKET MORE ACTIVE.

The Curb market showed more life than it has ordinarily done of late at the opening. It was irregular at the start, but became strong. Leaders were Boston & Montana Con., Eureka and Mutual. Among those to make early gains were Boston Consolidated Copper Mines, Imperial, Mutual, Pilgrim, Black Hawk and Boston & Montana.

At the end of an hour Boston & Montana was up 1 cent at 87 cents, Eureka 1 cent at 37 cents, Mutual 10¼ cents at —11-16, Verde Mines 1 cent at 16 cents and Alvarado ½ at 13½. Crystal was off 2 cents at 52 cents and Texada had lost its gain.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Worcester, Mass., has awarded $250,000 of permanent improvement 4½ per cent bonds due in 1950, to Estabrook & Co.

The White City Co. announces that its Section 3 will be known with a few of 300 houses, its Wheaton, La., No. 16 with 150 houses, its Wheaton No. 11 with 140 houses and its Palmer No. 2 in Texas with 40 houses have been brought in.

International Cement Corp. has declared initial quarterly dividend of 62½ cents payable Sept. 30 to stock of record Sept. 15.

The Butte & Superior Co. has obtained an 8-mile well recovery of 97 per cent. of the zinc content of its ore. This is 4 per cent more than in the preceding month and is 5 per cent more than the average recovery for the past 12 months.

For the first time since the year the Dominion Wire Co., whose capitalization is $375,215, expenses of $165,510 and net profit of $206,705, its net cost of $1.10 a ton for the period amounted to $253,810, of which $150,000 was cash and $103,810 was in preferred stock.

The White Fashion Shop of Boston has obtained a Mass. charter.

The following companies have been granted Massachusetts charters: N. E. White Co. of Westfield, 5,000 shares of no par value; Hebron Motors Co. of Boston, 25,000 shares of no par value. Girls Seek Swimming Championship

Two more entrants for the Boston American swim in the Charles River Basin on August 28. Miss E. Hildreth Fitzpatrick and, above, Miss Olive Holland.

Sanctioned by the New England Amateur Athletic Association, an organization of men interested in the development of clean and wholesome sports, the twelfth annual swimming carnival of the Boston American, to be held in the Charles River Basin, West End, Saturday afternoon, August 28, will bring together as fine a galaxy of bathing girls as ever assembled at one time in any section of the country.

Lieutenant Frank D. Breivogel, in charge of the Basin police during the absence of Lieuteuant Chapman, announces that the measurement of the course for the lady swim is one and one-half miles and 200 feet, from the raft of the Metropolitan Park Commission up stream to the bridge and back to the starting point.

Olive Holland, who finished second in last year's race, is among the entrants. She is eighteen years old and lives in Wellington. She writes that she is eager to win the race. She was only a few feet behind Irene Demars of Lawrence, winner of last year's event. Miss Holland's entry into the contest assures a spirited contest.

Dr John H. P. Connor of No. 96 Huntington avenue, in charge of the physicians' committee, declared today that 'mothers ought to take advantage of this opportunity to advertise the race and get a change of scenery.

Lois Lorriere, eleven, No. 31 Upsete street, Roxbury.

Congratulations to Men

Upon the Fact That Women Are to Have Political Justice

The boy who picks up your purse in the street, and returns it, is more to be congratulated than you. You get back your property. He proves his character.

So we congratulate the men rather than the women of America upon the ratification of the suffrage amendment. The women get what they were sure to get anyhow, the legal right to an equal voice in the conduct of public affairs. But the men get not only the benefit of a superior reinforcement, but also the moral satisfaction of having dealt justly.

We give large credit to the readers of the Hearst newspapers for this vindication of democracy.

For twenty years the Hearst newspapers have been telling their readers why women should have the right to vote.

This advocacy began when the suffrage movement was not as popular as it is today. "Long-haired men and short-haired women" were the contemptuous names bestowed by the prevailing opinion upon its leaders. Jeers and sneers greeted them on every hand.

But because suffrage was just, fair, democratic, right, the Hearst newspapers never wavered.

And their readers, having faith in us, turned the arguments over in their minds, found them sound, endorsed them and spread them by voice and pen throughout the land.

We could fill many pages with extracts from these early editorials which thus set in motion great and finally irresistible currents of opinion. We have space for only a representative few:

February 24, 1906:

Justice demands that women shall have the right to vote.

The men of America fought hard because the British taxed them without representation. Being men, they could fight —and they won.

How can they now insist upon taxing women without giving THEM representation? Do they demand that their mothers and sisters should go out and fight to get what is evidently their right?

What qualities should a voter possess to be a good citizen? Honesty, intelligence. Women are honest. Women are intelligent.

December 12, 1908:

Whether you want to see women vote or not, make up your mind to this:

Women are going to vote. They are going to have their say in the laws that rule them and their children. They are going to add morality, benevolence and kindness to man's governing selfishness, AND NOTHING WILL STOP IT.

You will hear women say that they do not want to vote, they are happy as they are, quite contented.

We would ask them to remember that exactly the same thing was said by the black slaves when abolition was suggested. But those very good slaves that wanted to remain slaves realize now that any kind of freedom was better that any kind of slavery.

And to these women, well meaning, satisfied, intelligent, but narrow, we would say that while they may think they are contented in their slavery, once they get freedom, once their moral character is expressed in the country's Government, they will find the freedom and the rights of the voter infinitely preferable to peaceful, well-dressed, silky slavery.

November 3, 1911:

You may pity the man who does not want to give the vote to women. He deserves your pity for one of three reasons:

He is brutal.

He is ignorant.

Or he has been unfortunate in the women with whom he has associated.

The man who has the right kind of mother, the right kind of daughters and sisters, unless he is ignorant and conceited after the fashion of savages, must realize that women should be his equal legally and is infinitely his superior morally.

Let women vote and men in office will be compelled to give results.

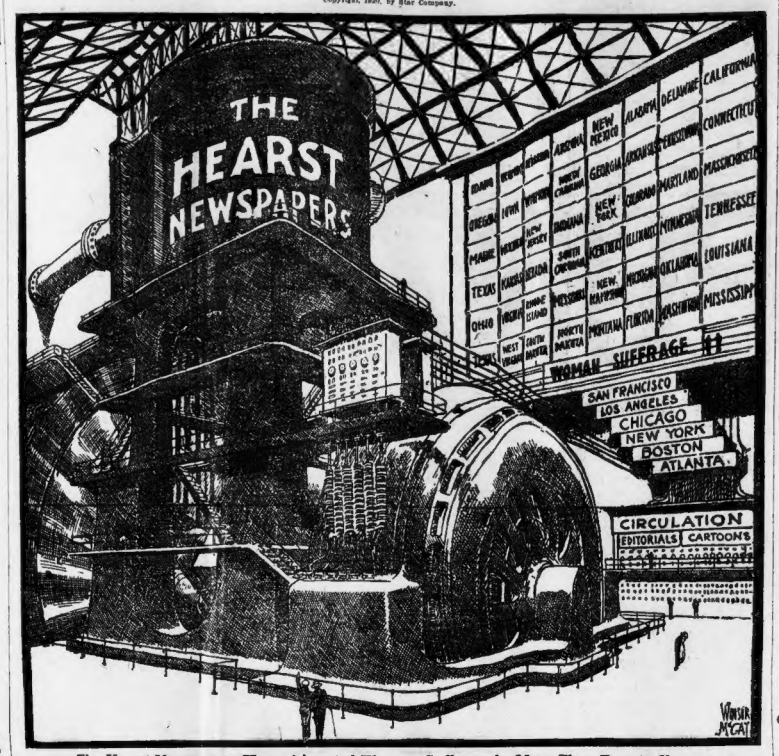
December 21, 1911:

Let women vote—as they soon will—and you will find better men in office, more intelligent interest in public affairs, fewer party hacks and more earnest discussion, fewer torchlight parades and more intelligent, public-spirited thinking.

This prediction of nine years ago holds true today. Women as voters will not bring the millennium. But they will increase the conscience in our public life and learn quickly from their political mistakes. They will improve the nation's housekeeping.

WOMEN WIN BY JUSTICE AND PUBLICITY

Copyright, 1920, by Star Company.



The Hearst Newspapers Have Advocated Woman Suffrage for More Than Twenty Years

When the Hearst newspapers twenty years ago began to educate millions of readers that justice demanded equality of rights for women, they had scant aid from the American press.

In those days the slogan "votes for women" was a theme of sarcasm and ridicule.

The privileged interests didn't want the feminine conscience interfering with their sordid political deals.

The majority of men had not thought seriously upon the question; they felt that their control of political action was a natural monopoly.

And now Tennessee ratifies the suffrage amendment, signalizing another fundamental victory for genuine democracy. The battle for equality of political rights has been won.

Right, fearlessly championed, is invincible.

Legion Delegates Should Act With Care

A morning contemporary, which recently has been taking a lively interest in matters affecting former war service men, makes these two interesting predictions in a special article dealing with the affairs of the American Legion:

1—The majority of Massachusetts man are heartily in favor of the bonus, and it can easily be predicted that the Springfield meeting will go on record in favor of adjusted compensation.

(The Springfield meeting is the annual State convention of the Legion next week.)

2—Those who are in close touch with the situation predict that a great battle will take place on the four-fold bonus plan.

Here are predictions that are contradictions. Adjusted compensation means bonus and the adjusted compensation or bonus recommended to Congress by the national organization of the Legion and the State commanders is the four-fold plan.

If the majority of the Massachusetts men favor the bonus why should there be a great fight over it in the State convention?

And, if it "can easily be predicted" that the convention will go on record for adjusted compensation why the prediction that there will be a great convention battle on the four-fold plan?

Is this an intimation that delegates have been elected for the special purpose of filibustering against a declaration by the convention of the wishes of the majority of Massachusetts service men? Is it a hint by "those in close touch with the situation"—whoever they may be—that delegates, become so prosperous since doffing the uniform they do not need a bonus, also have become such powerful pleaders in their own estimations that they are of the opinion they can put up a "great battle" in the convention for the interests who oppose the bonus and against their comrades who are entitled to and deserving of adjusted compensation?

Delegates should be careful to favor no subterfuge that will weaken the position of their national organization before Congress. Its plan is not perfect, but it is the best yet devised for consideration by Congress. It provides money for those who prefer that kind of a bonus, more education for those who want it, farms for those who would get back to the soil, and farm aid, or loans, for the purchase of stock and supplies, for those requiring that form of assistance.

To be sure, there are some conscientious objectors to a bonus, but they need not accept one if they do not want to, although, as a matter of fact, most of them probably would. Some object who are so rich that it would mean extra taxation for them. Others object because they are associated with or employed by interests which would have to pay more taxes.

Legion delegates of these stripes should receive but the scant consideration they deserve. The bonus is designed to aid those who could make good use of it and they comprise the rank and file of the service men of the country, including the "majority of Massachusetts men" for whose interests the State convention should deliberate.

Statesmen Must Heed

A reader wants to know why men and women will show "herculean ability, unselfishness, co-operation, etc., in war, a destructive business, and refuse point blank to co-operate to an equal degree in times of peace, when all constructive forces ought to be quickened."

Because the vivid drama of war stirs their emotions, whereas the routine of peace rarely thrills.

Because mankind has always put more glory around feats of destruction, around fighters, than around those who build.

A majority of our Presidents have been warriors. We idolize our successful generals, admirals, pirates, prize fighters, and often neglect our teachers, preachers, inventors, engineers.

Habits thus rooted are hard to change. Some powerful interests do not want them changed. International bankers, for instance. They make their biggest profits out of wars. They find war so profitable that they are trying to link this nation in a League of Wars.

Still there are cheering signs. Labor the world over is tiring of war. Labor sees that it gets nothing out of wars but sorrow, sacrifice, taxes, strain. Even the inflated wages of wartime are taken from it by inflated prices often controlled by profiteers.

The demand of labor that wars of conquest stop is a challenge to imperialistic governments which Premiers like Lloyd George may denounce as revolutionary, but it is something that all statesmen will have to heed.

More Truth Than Poetry

Reason Has Its Limits

By S. E. KISER

SHE had pity for vain women, and she walked in righteous ways;
With contempt for paint and powder, useful effort won her praise.
"Sisters, let's be up and doing!" Thus with earnest zeal she spoke;
"Let us be the weak no longer; let us cast
away the yoke;
Let us prove that we are worthy to assume the cares of state;
Let no woman any longer be inferior to her mate."

LAW and politics and logic claimed her interest; she learned
How to stand before assemblies, making speeches nicely turned;
Learning to subdue emotion, she took reason
as her guide;
Ribbons, frippery and jewels—pouf! She put them all aside.
"Give such trifles to the children, but let woman take her place
As the equal of her husband, and forget about her face."

SHE was busy at conventions; there was much she did to aid
In uplifting and improving; she was wise
and unafraid;
She could argue without passion; she could hold to wise reserve
On occasions when men even were inclined to lose their nerve;
But one day another woman caught her husband in her snare;
Then she said good-by to reason, and went in for pulling hair.

Letters to the Editor

Employment Fees

Editor Boston American:

Your paper always gives the working class a show, so I am going to relate a little experience of my own. I being in Lynn and on account of the present dullness in the shoe business decided to seek an employment agency.

I filled an application blank and was then given a pink slip to sign which said I must give the agency one entire week's pay ($15.00) for their modest share. Would that come under the head of profiteering or plain robbing? Can nothing be done? ETHEL M. SNOW.

Lynn.

Stars and Stripes

Perhaps the best way to "preserve the integrity of Poland" would be to unload the exploiters from Polish backs.

In order that our international bankers may share with Japan in exploiting China, Mr. Lamont's newspaper would permit Japan to colonize California. No, thank you.

The best way to solve the paper shortage is to grow more trees than you cut.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who lived simply and saved money?

The attempt to syndicate a peace for Poland overlooked that the Russians aren't on speaking terms with allied syndicates as yet.

Bill Nye's aspersion on our Pilgrim forefathers, that they "went ashore, knelt in prayer, opened a saloon, and thus was laid the foundation of our glorious Republic," will doubtless be answered at the tercentenary celebration. Anyhow, the saloon is dead.

Of course, coal will go up as rail rates rise. Likewise, everything else; except the spirits of those who must pay the bills.

By K. C. B.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.,
Sometime in August.

DEAR K. C. B.—Today I read about the old farm horse in Iowa who for faithful service was given a meadow of sweet grass and freedom from work forever, and who, when he heard the calls from the busy hayfields beyond, would stand and look over at his stable mates of younger years.

I know a dog of Alaska, K. C. B., a powerful, sleepy-eyed malamute, who, when a puppy, used to sit of Winter nights in a ring of his fellows on the banks of the Yukon and howl to the northern lights. To reward faithful service as a leader of his master's team, and because many times only the intelligence of Koogan brought the master safely through the perils of the Arctic trails, this dog of Alaska was brought down to the States to live in ease and comfort in a beauty spot of California.

At first he ran away every day and boarded the little steamer that ran to a distant city. After the crew came to know him and refused to let him aboard, he would stow away in launches, sailboats, anything that floated on the water. From his own country he had come on a boat and in his doggish mind he figured a boat would take him back.

It is six years since Koogan has given up trying to go north. He has lost his lean northern grace, his back is fat and broad and his muzzle is gray. I sit with him on the sunny veranda and we look out on this country of the far-famed climate, where all the hills are soft and round and warm looking, where every green thing bursts into red, hot blooms and the air is hot and the paths and trails are hot. And from the look in his wistful old eyes I know he is longing for that land with

"The snows that are older than history,
And the woods where the weird shadows slant."

The little steamboat at the dock whistles—a sound reminiscent of the deep-throated call of the river boats on the Yukon—and, as he has done every day since he became resigned to his reward of ease and luxury, old Koogan rises stiffly and goes down to the wharf to see the boat depart.

And I go with him, for I, too, am of the north, and we both belong to the same kind, mistaken man.

WHAT UNCLE SAM AIMS TO DO IN ARMY

By Maj. Nathan Horowitz

Fort Strong, Boston Harbor

THE crying need at the present moment is men for the army.

Men to carry on the necessary military, vocational and educational training—men for the necessary work and interior economy of the post.

However, in the great effort that must be put forth in order to get men, one point must be always uppermost in your minds. The men must be worthy. Experience has already taught that a worthless man is worse than no man at all. He needs more attention than fifty good men. The army is in no sense a reformatory; nor is it a place for the reconstruction of the weak, the deficient and the irresponsible. It is our one great national school for the training of our worthy youth in the principles of good citizenship.

True Sportsmanship

It is the aim of the United States Army to teach our soldiers to fulfill these duties in the best possible manner.

The first great duty of each man towards himself is to be clean and strong in body and mind. This the army accomplishes by military drill, exercise and games. Every man learns to use his head as well as his muscles, and learns also the rules of true sportsmanship.

The second great duty of each man is to provide the best of everything for his family. This can only be done by learning a trade, because the skilled workingman is the one who gets the best wages. The schools of the United States Army provide the best opportunities for this purpose.

Cardinal Principles

We owe our efforts to the strong, young, virile youth of America, to instill in him the three great cardinal principles of good citizenship—Knowledge, Discipline and Loyalty.

KNOWLEDGE—to best perform the duties mentioned above, toward himself, his family and his country. It is the ignorant who are exploited by the unscrupulous; a man must know to save himself from exploitation. The demagog finds a most fruitful field for his propaganda among the ignorant. Force will never drive this insidious influence from our national life—Knowledge, and Knowledge alone, will do it.

DISCIPLINE—a proper respect for law and order among the mass of our citizenry is sadly lacking. Not a day goes by but some report of riot and disorder is reported in the press. The only remedy is discipline. The only institution that can properly teach this very necessary quality to our citizens is the army.

LOYALTY—the fine spirit that tempers the sterner qualities of Knowledge and Discipline. The spirit that makes for a nation the brightest pages in its history.

THE VALUE OF CREDIT

Maybe the pride you take in saying "you never owed a man a dollar in your life" is the reason why you have not more dollars to your credit today.

It is no disgrace to borrow money in a worthy undertaking; in fact, nearly every man who has met with success is or has been a heavy borrower.

Borrowed capital keeps a big percentage of business going.

If you wait till you have saved enough to go into business without asking for a loan you may never be in business for yourself.

True, you must have some capital, but it is foolish for you to be missing a good chance to make money by waiting to save enough to float some enterprise.

If you feel that you have a good business plan which should bring you good returns on the investment, why lose unnecessary time and income because your pride will not allow you to owe a dollar to any man?

If you have built up a reputation for honesty and industry and frugality it will not be difficult for you to get some financial backing for a business founded on sound business principles.

Don't let your pride become a loadstone.
